'Charity begins at home, but should not end there.'

This is an old and much used saying which is still worthy of consideration. The average person is bombarded throughout the year with button days, door to door appeals, radio and television appeals, and many other claims on his generosity and he is usually willing to give a few shillings. Because of this we tend to consider ourselves charitably minded, yet few of us voluntarily give either money or aid to charities unless explicitly asked. We should ask ourselves whether we are charitable. How much to we give?

Australia is one of the most prosperous nations in the world enjoying a high standard of living, state services and comparatively low taxation. We are a pleasure-loving nation and set great store by material possessions such as large cars, television sets, and luxurious houses. Because we are experiencing a period of unprecedented prosperity we are becoming complacent and too ready to leave less fortunate people alone while we thoughtlessly drift along.

We have more money than ever before but find it hard to give it away. It is interesting to note that Australia only just subscribed her quota for the United Nations World Refugee Fund of 1960, whereas Great Britain, which has only just recovered, economically, from World War II over-subscribed her quota for this appeal.

This brings us on to the charitable activities of the school. During the period after World War II the boys provided over £2000 for the War Memorial Fund. This was a magnificent effort. The Women's Association generously provides the school with required equipment.

(However the boys do very little to help the Women's Association, except at the Fete). The Old Sydneians' Union collected £124,000 for the Centenary Fund. Charity has begun at home. It is now time to continue, to help others, for at the moment it has 'ended there'.

What have the boys of the school given to outside appeals? We gave £60 to the Refugee Appeal. This is only a fair contribution when we consider the number of boys in the school. Perhaps because we have never experienced the misery and helplessness of refugees we cannot understand the situation of the World's thousands of displaced persons. Yet though we lack such experiences, surely we feel sympathy for these unhappy people. It would appear that we are not interested in helping others. It is interesting to compare the amount we gave with that given by a smaller English school which raised £570 for this appeal by holding concerts, fetes and by gifts of money. It would appear to be not lack of money but lack of interest which makes the S.G.S. contribution small.

In the August, 1940 edition of the 'Sydneian' it is recorded that the school was giving on an average of £10 a week to the War Fund, or about 3d. per boy. Surely if this could be done during the war it could be done now.

We feel it would be wrong to levy money. A genuine interest in a particular charity should be created. Certain charities should be adopted by the school for a term or a year. Naturally the charity would probably be non-denominational such as Dr. Barnardo's Homes, Red Cross, old people's homes and many others.

Some sort of organization by the boys would be desirable to put the charitable activities of the school on a permanent basis. A committee of boys to select the 'school charity' and to administer the collection of gifts could be elected by the school. Such a committee would be greatly concerned with publicising charitable works and could also deal with additional appeals as they spring up during the year such as floods and fire appeals.

It should be emphasised that it is the boys and not their parents who are called upon to contribute to appeals. If it is found that gifts of money prove a drain on the pocket then other means should be found — concerts, plays and film evenings.

The school can give more. There are just under one thousand boys at College Street and if every boy gave 3d. a week this would mount to over three hundred pounds a year. This is a beginning for it is our duty to help others and if necessary deprive ourselves of something.

PRIZE GIVING 1960

ON 14th December, 1960, the Honourable Sir Kenneth Whistler Street, K.C.M.G., Lieutenant-Governor of New South Wales, presented the prizes at our Annual Speech Day in the Sydney Town Hall.

After the staff had been presented the academic procession moved into the Hall. The Chairman of Trustees, Mr. N. L. Cowper, welcomed the gathering and gave his address. This was followed by Mr. Francis, the Vice-Chairman, giving an account of benefactions and endowments. The Headmaster then gave his address and Sir Kenneth presented the prizes and spoke to the assembly.

Afternoon tea was served by the Women's Association in Big School after the ceremony.

THE CHAIRMAN'S ADDRESS

The Honourable, the Lieutenant-Governor of New South Wales, Mr. Headmaster, Members of the Board of Trustees, Ladies and Gentlemen, and Boys of the Sydney Grammar School.

We are grateful to you, Sir Kenneth Street, for coming again to present the Prizes at the Speech Day of the school, of which you are so distinguished an Old Boy.

The Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, the President of the Legislative Council and the Attorney-General, have sent apologies for their inability to be here. Another of our Trustees, Sir Victor Windeyer, is in hospital, where he has undergone an operation, and I am glad to say that he is reported to be progressing favourably.

From the points of view of the number and value of its properties and the work and cost involved in keeping it going, the School is now a great business institution. It has, besides the main School in College Street, the School House at Randwick, the preparatory schools at St. Ives and Edgecliff, the Weigall Ground at Rushcutters Bay and the Boat Shed at Gladesville. All these have been kept in good repair and condition — indeed, I do not think there has ever been a time when every part of the physical equipment of the School has been in such excellent order. This task of maintenance is one for which the Headmaster is responsible, and, although he received invaluable support from the staff of the School, the Headmasters of the Preparatory Schools, the Housemaster and the Committees which administer the Weigall Ground and the Boatshed, it is still a very heavy task for him, and we are grateful for the great success with which he performs it.

But a great school cannot stand still. At the School House we are in the course of creating a playing field. This involves a complicated series of real property transactions, difficult negotiations with leaseholders and the Church of England Property Trust, the deposit in a gully of a huge quantity of filling, the building of retaining walls, fences, and so on, and, of course, expenditure running into thousands of pounds. This is a project which has for long been dear to the heart of the School House Board and it is all that is needed to make the School House a first-class boarding-school unit. I wonder how many boys pass through the School without ever seeing it, or realising how good it is? I look forward to the time, after the playing field has been made, when some School functions will take place at Randwick, especially, perhaps, a performance by the Globe Players in the open air, with the steep slopes, paths, shrubs and trees as a backdrop.

At Edgecliff we have always been concerned because we have not had room for a kindergarten and classes I and II. Now the problem has been solved, again by rather intricate negotiations. We have in substance acquired from Mrs. Walter MacCallum the remaining term of the lease of a nearby property, which we are converting into a pre-preparatory school; and we have an assurance from the Church of England authorities who own the freehold that, on the expiration of the lease, we will obtain a long lease of other properties at the south of the present Preparatory School, to which we can transfer the pre-preparatory school. This is to be called MacCallum House, in memory of a distinguished and devoted Sydneian.

For the future we have great projects for the main school. We will get possession of the remainder of the Palladium site about the end of 1962. Eventually the present somewhat ramshackle building will be demolished and in its place a fine new building erected. The cost will be at least half a million pounds. Where this is to come from I cannot, at present, tell you, but it must be provided if the School is to keep its proud place in the forefront of the independent schools of Australia.

The Trustees have found themselves again under the unpleasant necessity of raising the fees at all the schools. The increased fees are not required, nor are they used, to finance capital projects such as the St. Ives School, the science building at College Street, or the playing field at Randwick. They are needed to enable the Trustees to meet the increased costs of maintaining the properties of the School and carrying on its activities. In particular, they are needed to enable the Headmaster to attract and keep a good staff of masters. And that he has done, with conspicuous success.

Next to the Headmaster, the Masters are the most important part of a School. I don't think we have on our present staff men of such vivid personalities or with such endearing eccentricities as we had in the old days; but I am sure we have never before had a staff so good throughout, or so enthusiastic and devoted, or so generally competent.

What of the boys? All headmasters, and our headmaster especially, are gravely concerned at the effect on them of some manifestations of our Western civilisation under the booming prosperity of to-day. Undue emphasis on material possessions, the pathetic desire to keep up with the Joneses by providing bigger and better parties for teenage sons and daughters, weakness in enforcing discipline in the home, failure to aim at and insist on high standards of manners, conduct and effort, and undue indulgence of boys' whims and weaknesses — these are the faults of some — too many — parents, and they make the task of the school master much harder than it used to be. But I am sure that the anxious care of the Headmaster and his masters achieves the utmost that can be achieved to bring the best out of all the boys in their charge.

THE HEADMASTER'S REPORT

THE number of boys in our Three schools is about the same as last year, there being over 1000 at College Street. There will be an increase next year both at St. Ives and at Edgecliff: at St. Ives the fifth class will be in two divisions; at Edgecliff plans are being made to provide for boys from five years of age. At College Street, too, there may be slightly more boys, if as many as usual repeat their Leaving Certificate year: fortunately the ratio of masters to boys will be one master to just over eighteen boys and the number of large classes will be much fewer. This year we have been able to reduce the numbers in most classes, except for First Year English and Mathematics and a very few other Mathematics Classes. Eight masters, as can be seen in the list of staff in the Prize List Booklet, are now Members of the Australian College of Education, which has been instituted to be the professional association to which members of the teaching profession at all levels may aspire. It gave great pleasure to members of the staff that Dr. H. S. Wyndham was the guest of honour at the Common Room dinner and gave us a most interesting address.

It is with very great regret that the announcement is made of the retirement at the end of this year of Mr. H. A. Ritchie, the Senior Master, after over 44 years' continuous service to the School. Mr. Ritchie became Master of the Lower School during the Headmastership of Mr. F. G. Phillips and, on relinquishing that post at the end of 1954, remained as Senior Master. During 1959 he was Acting Headmaster for six months. His skill as a teacher has always been outstanding; his example to all, his guidance of men lately come to the staff, his leadership and influence on boys, and his wisdom have been a constant cause of admiration. Of few can it be said that they are irreplaceable; of Mr. Ritchie it is true.

Mr. A. W. Austin retired at the end of the second term, after 38 years on the school staff: he too will be hard to replace; generations of Sydneians have learnt mathematics and cricket from him; they have gone to him for advice and help with their careers; and they have valued his friendship. Of late years he had especially given great service as administrator of school examinations.

Mr. Austin's work as careers master will be continued by Mr. Mann.

At the end of this term Mr. G. C. Garnsey leaves us, having taken Holy Orders, to take up his duties in Canberra. Later next year he will go to Oxford, with a Lucas-Tooth Scholarship; we wish him and his wife every success. Mr. J. Duffy returns from overseas in time for next term. Mr. K. B. Potten has already returned. Mr. A. Cooper, who graduated at Sydney University last year, has joined the Mathematical department and Mr. D. Hinks the general staff. Next term we shall welcome Mr. R. G. Adcock from Ipswich Grammar School (Science) and Mr. P. Spencer from Sydney University (Mathematics and Science). Mr. J. Birch is transferring from Edgecliff to College Street, to teach Science and Mathematics; and Mr. J. Sheldon will come from Sydney University to teach Classics; Mr. G. Browne-O'Byrne, after a short absence, will return to us again next term.

The school buildings have been maintained well this term; an extensive programme of painting has been put into effect. Mrs. Chase, besides giving generously to the Science Department, to the Globe Players to the Cadet Corps and to the Library, gave £1,000 for the replacement of the glass in the Big Schoolroom windows by more suitable glass: there will soon be a memorial window with the coat of arms of her father, Mr. A. B. Weigall.

Examination results last year were satisfactory. 129 boys passed the Leaving Certificate examination: F. C. Buttfield was 67th and A. A. Doran was 73rd in the list of the First Hundred; three first places in Honours were obtained, R. H. Mills in Modern History; B. H. Short and R. A. Skiller equal first in Ancient History. 149 boys passed the Intermediate Certificate Examination.

The course of lectures on Current Affairs has continued and has evidently increased its effectiveness; essays submitted by the Sixth Form at their final school examination were better both in quality and in quantity than in the past.

It is important to record the continuing progress of the Science Department towards efficiency and, indeed, excellence. It is admirably helped by the Sydney Grammar School Science Association, whose chairman is Dr. E. P. George. From 17th February to 6th April a refresher course in science was provided for parents; the average attendance was thirty. At the end of this term three evening lectures were arranged for boys and girls from any independent schools. Biology has been included in the curriculum for 3rd and 4th forms. One matter in which the advice of the Science Association will prove most valuable is the planning of further new laboratories for advanced students, both boys and masters. This is a project which will be put into effect as soon as possible: it is hoped to build six more laboratories, with equipment for specialists.

Performances in sport have been more than satisfactory and opportunities for boys who are not experts have widened. Though hardly to be classified as a Sporting Activity, 'Outward Bound' courses have been well supported by parents and boys; one of our Sixth Formers is treasurer of the Old Boys' Association of Outward Bound; and the school has been authorised to administer the Duke of Edinburgh's Award scheme. Three masters attended a course in connection with this scheme.

Perhaps the most obvious sporting success was the winning by the Junior Team of the Junior G.P.S. Athletics competition; the Senior Team was a good third. But almost more pleasing was the successful initiation of the Athletics Standards Competition, which has been largely administered by senior boys: over 700 standards certificates were issued and it is hoped that the scheme can be further extended to include other forms of physical endeavour.

Football teams increased in number with the formation of three preparatory department teams. 294 matches of all grades were played, of which 197 were won. The 1st XV was equal 2nd with the King's School. The season was marked by a considerable improvement in sportsmanship and fair play in G.P.S. football generally.

The main Rowing season was satisfactory in that participation was enthusiastic though Regatta results were not so good as we had hoped. The most successful crew was the fourth IV which was second in its race. The VIII came 5th. Our rowers rely greatly on Old Sydneians and other friends of the school for coaching: it is invidious to select names, but thanks should especially be given to Mr. P. Rudder, since he is now forced by pressure of work to give up helping, and we welcome the new coaches. This term a sound start has been made at the Boatshed with some needed re-organization in administration.

Cricket, at the time of writing, is still in progress: the 2nd XI is certain of winning its competition; the 1st XI is at present in 2nd place; it has not been quite so strong a team as last year and perhaps it has been a little unlucky in the weather, but it had done well and there is good promise for the future. The coaching strength is much sounder now.

The Rifle Club had a very good year: the First Team just lost to the King's School in the G.P.S. Competition, though it won one of the trophies; the Second Team won its competition. Good encouragement has been given to shooting through the generous gift by an Old Sydneian to help meet the mounting costs.

The Swimming Team has again so far won all its inter-school relays and all in record time. Tennis is widening its scope and more young boys are playing on the school courts. The Senior Team beat the King's School, but lost to Shore in the championship; the Under 16 team won its championship. Gymnastic work and weight lifting continue to fill the needs of many senior boys.

The various requirements of these sports are soundly provided for by the Sports Fund Committee and by the Parents and Friends of the Boat Club Association. These bodies have been most generously helped by gifts of money from the Sydney Grammar School Women's Association and by such gifts as that of one of the Trustees, by whose generosity, the Weigall Ground receives an annual dressing of fertiliser. The ground, though used so constantly, looks better every year; it is being improved also by the extension of the concrete steps along the side of the 1st XV ground; and an Edgecliff parent has kindly presented a movable shelter of the little boys' cricket ground. Old Sydneians and others will be sorry to hear that Mr. Les Lane, the head groundsman, had a serious illness, from which, however, he is making a good recovery.

The generosity of the Sydney Grammar School Women's Association, as a result of their successful Fete held in May, must be thanked properly. In addition to gifts to the two Preparatory Schools, to the Sports Fund Committee and to the Boatshed, the ladies also gave £1000 to the main school: this is being used for the replacement of our film-projector and tape-recorder, for the purchase of a 'tachistoscope' to help in improving senior boys' reading speeds, for the purchase of stop-watches and other athletic gear, and for placing tubs of shrubs and plants in the College Street grounds.

The Cadet Corps this year experimented with a two-day bivouac camp at Long Bay range during first term: valuable experience was gained. In general an effort is being made both by our own corps and by the Army authorities to provide more active and adventurous training, even in range-shooting: this trend was emphasized at camp by a long exercise, involving patrols and bivouacking, for the senior companies. The Corps was inspected this year by Brigadier F. G. Galleghan, D.S.O., O.B.E., I.S.O., E.D., Honorary Colonel of the Australian Cadet Corps in N.S.W. Early next year Major A. J. Hill will hand over command to Captain R. L. Rofe.

The A.T.C. and R.A.N.R. units have had a satisfactory year.

The Globe Players this year performed Shaw's Pygmalion, produced by Mr. D. E. Lloyd. It was an excellent production and, like last year's play, was greatly enhanced by the scenery designed by Mr. G. McAuslan, our Art Master. A theatre club has been formed and regular visits to the theatre organised.

The Chess Club won the schools championship: the game continues to be most popular at the school.

During 1960 the Library acquired 847 volumes, 484 of which came by generous gifts; among the donors we must especially thank Mrs. Chase, Miss Glover, Mr. Wilkinson and Dr. MacDonald, whose gift of 19th century 'Africana' is most interesting. It is fairly easy to satisfy the demands of most departments, but there is still not enough supply of books on hobbies, sports and recreations generally. The Librarian boy staff has done well this year; and the employment of an extra secretary, who acts for both the Librarian and the rest of the staff, has both helped all the staff and enabled the Librarian especially to proceed with many postponed but much needed tasks, such as cataloguing, preparing bibliographies, and tackling the problems of archives and the 'Roll of Worthies', that is a record of all Sydneians who have done or are doing notable work.

Debating has continued to be popular: over forty boys took part in the inter-schools debates and three of the senior debaters gained distinction.

At the School House a great improvement is in progress: the Trustees have acquired sufficient land, on reversion of leases, from the Church Property Trust to enable us to begin filling in the valley so as eventually to form a small playing field. The task will be long and costly, but will be most advantageous to the school and House.

It is pleasing to note an increased interest in Art; it is to be hoped that more of the older boys will find a useful and rewarding out of school activity in the Art Room. Music has not been so prominently popular, partly because of the pressure of other activities and partly through lack of suitable rooms; however, an afternoon concert was arranged for the ladies of the Women's Association on 7th December.

Next year there will be a weekly religious assembly, in addition to the present longer Special Religious Assemblies at beginning and end of term: the weekly assembly will be preceded by a lesson read from the Bible, a hymn and prayers.

This report must not close without recording the sympathy of all older members and past members of the school with Mr. F. G. Phillips on the death of his wife earlier this year. In the December number of the Sydneian will be found excerpts from the moving address given by the Reverend A. P. Campbell at her funeral, and some verses which Mrs. Phillips herself wrote on the death of her younger son. Those words will show how great must be the sense of loss felt by her very many friends.

THE HEADMASTER'S ADDRESS

THE HONOURABLE THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, MR. CHAIRMAN, GENTLEMEN OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN —

In an address on Speech Day a Headmaster is expected to make certain pronouncements which may provoke comment; and if he is not very careful his remarks may have an effect for which Royalty has recently coined a concise term — especially if reported before he has actually delivered his address! This year I want especially to say something first to the boys of the school, even though they have probably had enough of me at weekly assemblies.

First of all I hope that you notice that I do not, as other speakers sometimes do, add another vocative 'Boys' after the words 'Ladies and Gentlemen'; for you are included in the word 'Gentlemen'; and I remind the older ones among you that Lord Slim, as Governor General, spoke to you at our Centenary in 1957 on this subject. Your task, he said, was to 'show what an educated, Christian gentleman means in ordinary everyday life'. And he warned you that there are a number of people in the world who are frightened of words like honour and religion and faith and discipline and gentlemen, but that you needn't be.

I would like to warn you that when you go out into the world you will meet far too much ignorance, apathy and cynicism about the things that matter. There is abundant evidence of young people who are completely indifferent to social evils, other people's feelings, world events, the future, so long as they themselves have what they think is freedom, a big enough pay-packet and no need to worry much about what their 'boss' may say. In this school we try to teach you traditional virtues; some of you find these irksome. The majority of you do not, but take a pride in them; and I take a pride in you who do so — a very great pride, though I do not often say it publicly. It is at about the Second and Third year stage that some of you, growing up rather quickly now, set your hearts against what we have to teach. It is at this stage that you may decide that your teachers are to be ignored, that only a fool tries hard and that, in any case, this sort of education is not a thing in which you can get much satisfaction.

Every year and more and more we are trying to find ways in which each one of you may find something which fills his needs. Do you take these opportunities? Every year there are more intellectual and physical activities. Do you realise that we offer over 500 variations of subjects or courses which you can take after the Intermediate Course? Have you tried yourself out in the Standards Competition, in which you are competing only against yourself? Will you attempt next year to gain one of the Duke of Edinburgh's Awards, of which I shall speak later?

*Not where the wheeling systems darken,
And our benumbed conceiving soars!
The drift of pinions, would we hearken
Beats at our own clay-shuttered doors.*

*The Angels keep their ancient places; —
Turn but a stone, and start a wing!
'Tis ye, 'tis your estranged faces,
That miss the many-splendoured thing.*

The great sorrow of a schoolmaster's life is to see those few 'estranged faces'.

To help meet this problem next year, in addition to the increase in staff and lessening of class-numbers mentioned in my printed report, which is to be found with the prize-list, there will be two innovations.

A department will be gradually developed to provide systematically for Vocational Guidance, Remedial Teaching and Careers-advice, all of which can be summed up, in American terminology, as Guidance Counselling, supplementing and co-operating with your Tutors' work as your normal school guides. Visitors today to the school will see the first indication of this on a notice board placed on the wall of the first floor lobby in the War Memorial Building. Secondly we hope to encourage boys whose needs are not met by the conventional games to try for the Duke of Edinburgh's Award. This involves a sustained effort in four fields — (1) First-Aid and Public Service, which may be anything from Life-saving to being an N.C.O. in the Cadet Corps; (2) a hobby or pursuit, of which a great variety will be accepted, begun for the first time and carried on for at least six months to completion: this could be learning to paint, or model in clay, building a boat or making a garden, or indeed almost any useful pursuit (3) attainment of certain physical standards in athletics, gymnastics or swimming (4) an expedition through rough country. There are three grades of award, Bronze, Silver and Gold. This school is authorised to administer the scheme.

In these and other activities it is essential that we develop more methodically the means of answering the following questions: is a boy following a course commensurate with his abilities? Why is an apparently able boy doing badly? How can we help a boy who feels that 'he is nothing'? I urge parents to continue to consult their sons' Tutors, as they have lately shown a greater tendency to do. I should like them to consult tutors first, before recourse is made to the Career Advisers. May I also remind parents of the value of Outward Bound and thank those who have had the courage and generosity to support it already?

Before I leave this topic it is appropriate for me to comment on the value of the institution of School Prefects. A prefect is chosen for the qualities of character which he has revealed and for the ability to lead and set a good example which we think he will develop. There is a rather juvenile attitude visible even in adults towards those responsible for leading and preserving the law; this is sometimes reflected in young people, who are unable to perceive that a person given authority must do his duty, regardless of popular feeling, or lose his own self-respect. I say again that I believe that boys' attitudes sometimes are derived from what they learn outside the school, so that they regard laws which are meant to help them (and which are kept to a minimum) as irrational and evil restrictions on their liberty. I am sure that all boys have appreciated the tactful and cheerful leadership and example of this year's Senior Prefect, John Antill; and that a number of boys have been helped by him to a better understanding of right conduct.

We are in the process of carrying out a survey of how much of boys' time is overloaded with activities and travelling. I have to thank the Masters concerned, especially Mr. Carr. We all realise that boys who work hard in class and in general school activities do have a very full and perhaps an over-full life. I said early in my address that I took a great pride in the majority of our boys: I do think indeed that many of our boys work very hard indeed; it may be that the difficulties which beset a school situated in the heart of a great city are good for the character; we may be mistaken in bewailing its physical imperfections.

A sample survey of one 'year' has indicated that perhaps one quarter of our boys have little or no religious instruction or contacts apart from what they get in the school. The school was founded for 'the advancement of religion and morality'. I therefore draw your attention to a statement about religious assemblies in my printed Report.

I turn now to certain personal changes and losses, some of which are already recorded in the Report. Mrs. Phillips, whose death occurred in May was very dear to a great host of friends of Grammar and especially to the ladies of the Women's Association. I have recorded details of the generosity of the Association; may I take this opportunity of thanking Mrs. Harvey for all she has done during her Presidency of the Women's Association? I know that it has been a very happy tenancy of that office, happy for all of us; and I think that this object — of creating happiness — was her main object. How successful she has been. Particularly I thank her for her gift of flowers today — we should be giving flowers to her! I hope that we shall continue often to see her and Mr. Harvey. Mr. Hill will be giving up command of the Cadet Corps next term. I am sure that the Corps has been most fortunate in having had him as its inspiring commander and I thank him very warmly. To Mr. Austin we said good-bye last term; but we see him still and were delighted to have his help at the time of the examinations. Grammar does not seem the same without his cheerful and devoted presence. What a fine schoolmaster he has been!

But all will rightly expect me to speak of Mr. Ritchie. What can I say more than that I am selfishly more concerned about the loss to me than to the school? What headmaster, a much younger man, coming from another country, could have been more blessed in the Senior Master he found in his new school to advise him, yes — and to comfort and support him? Loved by all Sydneians, he has indeed given nearly forty-five years of perfect service to his own old school; we know him as a man possessed of the most precious of qualities — thoroughness in his work, knowledge and clarity as a teacher, utter honesty, and that humility and charity to all that characterize the Christian gentleman.

PRIZE LIST 1960

Senior Knox Prize for Proficiency in Sixth Form: F. C. Buttfeld, L. M. H. Wing.

Wigram Allen Prize for Mathematics in Sixth Form: Not Awarded.

Wigram Allen Prize for Science in Sixth Form: D. J. Burke.

- Wallach Memorial Prize for Proficiency in Literary Subjects in Sixth Form (Captaincy of the School): F. C. Buttfield.

MR. H. A. RITCHIE

MR. RITCHIE retired from the School at the end of 1960. Due notice made it possible for the event to be received sanguinely, as with full and abundant mutual respect. Mr. Ritchie had entered Grammar as a boy fifty-eight years before and had come to appear irreplaceable. He had been a master here continuously for nearly forty five years and all would wish him ease in retirement.

It would be Mr. Ritchie's wish that much of his personal record should be given the added interest of associations which years mentioned revive. To school here in the city Herbert Ritchie came from the country, from Rylstone, with a State bursary, in 1903. Of those who were his masters (names include Weigall, Lucas, Dettmann and Phillips) his calibre as a pupil has recently been heard praised by Mr. Phillips. He won the Junior Knox, then for proficiency in the Third Form; and the Senior Knox in 1909, some other leading names of that year being Tim Lamrock (Senior Prefect), Eric Barbour (the Captaincy) and Norman Gregg (Wigram Allen Prize). At that time, only fifteen boys attained the Sixth Form as then designated. Herbert Ritchie also attained the then First Fifteen (and the Prefectship and the Second Eleven), playing, at nine and a half stone, a notable game at five-eighth — in the earliest days of the Weigall Ground (established 1907) when the main field ran parallel and close to the canal and the directing there of the one ball then used in play sometimes added its drama to a game. Incidentally, to the end of his mastership, Mr. Ritchie retained a quickness of foot which no crisis of any pedestrian traffic could have found wanting.

After graduating B.A. at Sydney, Mr. Ritchie served brief terms at Barker, Toowoomba Grammar (under G. P. Barbour) and The Armidale School, coming to the staff of Grammar in 1916, at about which time he made transition in specialization from classics to mathematics. Briefly, the record continues: Second Mathematics Master from 1924; Master of the Lower School, 1946-54; and Senior Master, 1955-60, with two terms as Acting Headmaster in 1959. He thereby served with five headmasters and a few thousand boys must have passed through his classes. Mr. Ritchie also busied himself in sport, notably as coach of Third and Fourth Fifteens and, once at least, the First Fifteen. In succession to Hyam Marks he was O. S.

representative in the School for about twenty years. He might have been seen well in standing at any significant Grammar occasion. So much for the mere framework of the career.

Of his classroom work, his pupils will have memory due and rich: one eminent and learned citizen has gratefully recalled that he himself might not have matriculated but for the exceptional teaching of his mathematics master. Examples of his slogans are: 'If you want to get anywhere, you can't dodge the drudgery'; 'Speed plus accuracy equals "A"'; 'If we say we have no homework, we deceive ourselves and the truth is not in us.' One impartially observes that pupils have been fortunate who have learnt their mathematics from a master whose first love was the humanities.

During most recent years Mr. Ritchie has perhaps appeared most notably as a readily approachable reservoir of half a century of the wisdom of traditional Grammar. Many will recall him more easily in the greater strength of his middle years or in his earliest liveliness. Integral as teacher, man and friend, he has embodied a strong deep zeal for work and Grammar, and a spontaneity of natural wisdom which could improve the opportune moment with the fittest of jests. In addresses to the assembled School, he has commanded fullest respect equally in the most serious exhortation and in the quoting of a music hall song in reference to the wearing of the felt hat. Seriousness and good humour have gone together with him, one might perhaps say, as black and gold; and one felt that over a lifetime he had drawn so much from the School that the School had, whenever possible, to draw some of it back from him.

In all, one feels that seldom could any master have been so essentially identifiable with his day school. One of his rewards will be an ever welcoming host of the best of friends, in whose company he will be readily known by his several familiar names and with whom conversation will be full, fine and free. Gleams occur in 1961 when he revisits the School, looking in some manner assuringly youthful — after all, he was young enough when he first came here.

In other places, Mr. Ritchie will be acknowledged better, though words of intended praise may duly melt away in the general air which accompanies him. These notes may observe, to some satisfaction, that he always stands fully as much a part of Grammar as Grammar a part of him.

I.M.E.

MR. H. A. RITCHIE

FREDRICK ATHOL BOOTH

EARLY this year the death occurred of Mr. F. A. Booth, B.A., B.Sc. (Syd. Univ.).

After gaining teaching experience at Warwick High School (Q), Parramatta High School and Barker College, Mr. Booth was appointed Senior Mathematics Master at Grammar in 1924 and during his thirty years' service proved himself a magnificent teacher of Mathematics and Mechanics and established a remarkable record of success with his pupils in public examination, especially in L.C. Honours in Mathematics.

Amongst his outstanding students may be mentioned Professor John Wood of the University of New South Wales, Mr. A. M. Mackerras and the late Dr. Roger Thorne, both of whom were subsequently at Cambridge together, Rhodes Scholar J. G. McLeod The late Mr. M. H. Gastineau-Hills and Mr. J. Bowie Wilson who shared the Wigram Allen prize for mathematics in 1924, Mr. Booth's first year at the School; Dr. Neville Babbage, Dr. Paul Tomlinson and Mr. Grainger Morris, who completed his studies at Cambridge.

Mr. Booth never spared himself in his efforts to help deserving boys and he was always ready to assist his colleagues: nothing was too much trouble. He was most straightforward himself and endeavoured always to induce boys to develop an honest and straightforward approach to their work. Generous to a fault, he was himself ever most grateful for any good turn or service that was done him. An enthusiastic member of the School Choir and the Madrigal Society he also appeared in concerts at the School with the North Shore Choral Society. His quick wit and sense of humour enlivened many a spare period in the Common Room and at times relieved the austerity of mathematics in the class-room.

Many Old Sydneians will remember how Mr. Booth used to move through Big School in a stately procession of one with chalk-laden duster poised to keep oncoming traffic on its proper side. Quite a number of boys would fail to observe the rule of the road and so come into contact with the duster, much to the amusement of their fellows.

Then too, was his method of dealing with boys who wanted to interrupt his lessons in order to get books with which they had not provided themselves at the proper time. If it was entirely their own fault that they did not have their books, they would be allowed into the room if they were prepared to pay so much per volume. (This was humorously referred to as 'In-come Tax.'). At the end of a year a cheque would be sent for the amount collected to St. James' Church, King Street, as a contribution to the fund for providing a Christmas treat for poor people. This was particularly appropriate because as a boy Mr. Booth had been a chorister and soloist at that church.

KEITH BROUGHTON FREDERICK LUMSDAINE

1888 - 1961

'Toby' Lumsdaine had the gift of laughter, carrying gaiety and happiness into every field of a most active life. There must be some thousands of Old Sydneians of the years 1915-46 who think with affection and gratitude of Keith Lumsdaine when they recall their days on Long Bay Range, the skiing parties at Kosciusko, cadet camps on Middle Head and elsewhere, the round of school debates and his classes in Latin or French or Ancient History. He could be stern enough on occasion but irrepressible laughter was always close beneath the surface. His practical jokes were enjoyed as much by the victim as by those in the secret although there was one volcanic occasion in the Common Room when E. W. Bonwick failed to appreciate a telephone call made by Keith from another part of the School. On 1st April, no one was more adept in fooling an entire class and when the tables were turned on him he would shake with laughter.

K. B. F. Lumsdaine was educated at Shore and the University of Sydney. He came to Grammar from Barker in 1915, becoming Senior Latin Master in 1921. He brought wide scholarship and a vigorous mind to his work in classics and modern languages; in his own time for example he learnt Italian and Russian. At least one of his 4 A's was introduced to Dante in the original after the Intermediate! History, ancient and modern, were a life-long passion. His classes knew him as a lucid teacher, patient and helpful, whose discipline was won without fuss and with rare resort to punishment. But his pupils remember him above all for his cheerful energy and sense of fun.

Among old rifle-shots 'Toby' is already something of a legend. To take part in the camp that preceded the G.P.S. matches was an unforgettable experience which he himself recorded for the Sydneian in verse and prose year by year; these articles are still a delight to read for something of the man has been captured in them. His team won the premiership no less than five times from 1927 to 1939 and were rarely out of the first three places. In debating, he had the same touch and the old debaters, like his riflemen, would come back years afterwards to help him.

When F. G. Phillips succeeded H. S. Dettmann as Headmaster in 1940, Keith became Master of the Lower School holding that key post through the difficult years of the war. At the same time, he took command of the Cadet Corps, in which he had served from Great War days, increasing his burden and his service with characteristic loyalty. The War had scarcely ended when the deaths of his mother and his great friend, Douglas Ferguson made an immense gap in his life. He resigned in 1946 and went to England where he soon settled down to teach again at the Sloane School.

Grammar is the richer for the life and work of Keith Lumsdaine whose gift it was to inspire boys throughout his service of more than thirty years. His friends — his colleagues and the great company of his pupils — rejoice in the memory of him as he joins the ranks of those masters of the School —

*'Whose work continueth,
Broad and deep continueth,
Great beyond their knowing.'*

MATTHEW WILKIE ROBERTSON

Mr. M. W. Robertson who passed away on 19th December, 1960, was a member of the teaching staff at Grammar for 36 years. He was an enthusiastic, highly competent science teacher, and there will be very many Old Boys who remember 'Appo' with gratitude and respect.

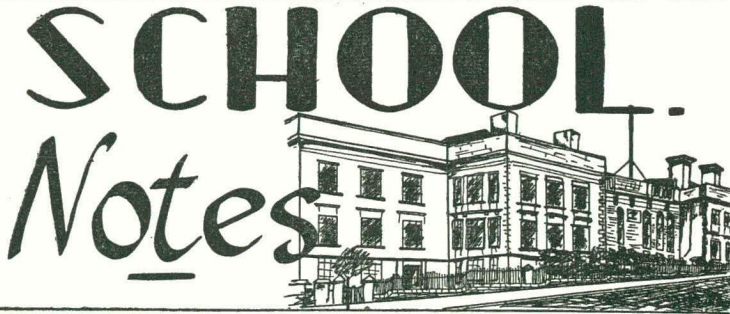

As a young man he was an 'A' grade tennis player in Victoria, and during the '30's he was appointed coach of the School teams. In this activity he revealed outstanding ability, and under his guidance several youngsters developed into first class players.

The School will remember the keen practical interest he showed in the work of the Women's Association. At the several fetes arranged by this body he proved an able administrator, and his organization at the Town Hall in connection with the Centenary celebrations was a meritorious piece of work.

He retired from Grammar at the end of 1957 and joined the Science staff of Cranbrook the following year. In April we learnt with sorrow of the death of Mrs. Robertson: she and her husband were deeply devoted to one another; so death has not parted them for long.

C.D.T.

We record with regret the death of Mr. Aubrey Hanson-Norman, Master of the Lower [School], on 30th May. A memorial article will appear in the December issue of 'The Sydneian'.

The school year is now well under way but not quite far enough into midstream for any but the most keen to be counting the number of shopping days to Christmas. At this stage it would appear safe to say that 1961 is going to be steady rather than brilliant year for Grammar.

The number of boys enrolled at College Street is slightly less than last year's all-time record. An extremely creditable total of passes was obtained in the 1960 Leaving Certificate. Over thirty Commonwealth Scholarships were won. Frank Buttfield came ninth in the first hundred passes in the State and Brian Symons came seventy-third. It is to be hoped that the fine efforts of these two, now Old Sydneians, inspire candidates for this year's Leaving Certificate to similar heights of scholastic attainment.

It was with the greatest possible regret that, at the end of last year, the school was forced to say farewell to Mr. H. A. Ritchie after over 44 years continuous service. Mr. Ritchie held the position of Senior Master at the time of his retirement. During the Headmastership of Mr. F. G. Phillips, he became Master of the Lower School, a post which he held until the end of 1954. During the Headmaster's absence in 1959, he became Acting Headmaster for six months. Mr. Ritchie has always been a highly successful teacher of mathematics. His fairness, firmness and approachability to all have won him the highest respect from masters and boys alike.

At the end of last year we were also left by Mr. R. J. Parr and Mr. G. C. Garnsey. Mr. Parr resigned to take up administrative position in a publishing house and the school send him its best wishes in his new career. At Grammar Mr. Parr was tutor of Group 12. He also helped to establish a regular savings bank service for the convenience of boys within the school.

Mr. Garnsey resigned to take up a clerical scholarship which will take him to University of Oxford. We wish him every success for the future.

Although Mr. F. G. Phillips has not just left the school, he has recently taken temporary leave of the country in order to spend seven months in England. The School sends him its very best wishes. We all hope his holiday will be just as he would desire it.

We welcome back Messrs. J. Duffy and K. B. Potten after a year's leave in England. The services of these masters will be especially valuable in both work and sport. We also welcome the return of Mr. G. Browne-O'Byrne.

The school extends a warm greeting to Messrs. R. G. Adcock, J. R. Argue, J. Birch, J. C. L. Nelson, J. S. Sheldon and P. Spencer who have joined the College Street teaching staff.

Mr. R. L. Rofe has been appointed Assistant to the Headmaster. He has also taken over the Command of the Cadet Corps following the retirement from cadets of Major A. J. Hill after a long and highly successful command. The school congratulates Major Rofe on his appointment as O.C. and hopes he will obtain the same degree of success as that obtained by Major Hill.

On the retirement from the position of Senior English Master by Mr. I. M. Edwards, Mr. H. A. Macdonald now fills that post and Mr. K. B. Potten is Second English Master.

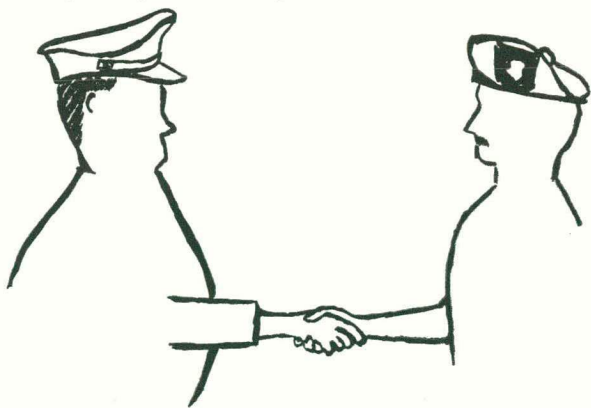

It is with the greatest possible gratitude that we once again say 'Thank you' to Mrs. Chase for her generous gifts to the school.

Glass bearing a Coat of Arms of Mr. Weigall's family has been placed in one of the windows of Big School Room, by the generosity of Mrs. Chase, his daughter. It is hoped that the School Coat of Arms will be set in another window, also given by Mrs. Chase, to whom we are most grateful for her many gifts to the School.

Prefects returning from last year are J. C. Ancher, C. S. Boag, R. J. W. Cattlin and I. K. Downing. The following appointments to sub-prefects have been made: J. P. A. Arnold, R. O. Bourke, G. G. Conomos, M. H. Doran, P. C. Ellis, W. M. France, R. B. Halliday, T. C. Healey, R. W. Hindmarsh, I. E. Hottes, B. T. Hungerford, D. A. Hunt, K. S. McConnell, K. I. Murchison, D. R. Parker, R. J. Tanner, J. R. Taylor, E. N. Tindall, M. S. Turner, R. H. Turner, and J. T. D. Wood.

The Senior Prefect is J. C. Ancher.

As already mentioned, the leadership of the Cadet Corps has changed hands from Major A. J. Hill to Major R. L. Rofe.

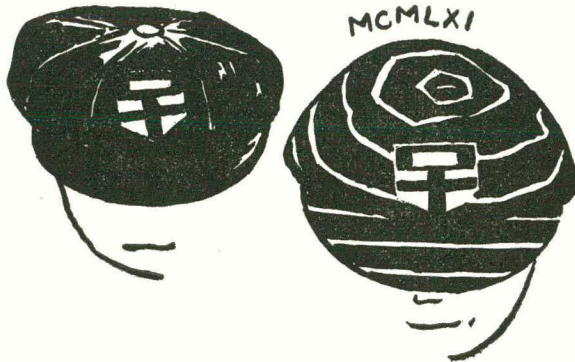

Under the new 'Imperator' there are sure to be some minor changes but it is certain the efficiency of the Corps will not change. The Senior Under Officer is I. K. Downing. The company commanders are I. K. Downing, C. S. Boag, J. P. A. Arnold and J. C. Ancher.

After last year's successful Bivouac, the Corps is having its second one this year. It will be held at the Anzac Rifle Range, Liverpool.

Sergeant K. I. Murchison is Senior N.C.O. of the Air Training Corps. There is a rumour that the navy is considering buying an atomic submarine. This may not be true. However, having heard this rumour, all will be able to see that the Naval Reserve Cadets do function and are go-ahead in outlook.

The annual Science Day was held at the school on the 23rd of March and as usual it was a great success. This year the Principal Lecturer was Professor M. Chaikin.

The First Eleven, playing under new caps, started the season in very impressive form but it suffered an outright defeat at the hands of Saint Joseph's which, unless a number of unlikely things happen, will ruin our chances of winning the premiership. However, it is certain the team will play good cricket throughout the year. The First Eleven was also narrowly beaten in Melbourne by Melbourne Grammar. A very enjoyable stay in 'the deep South' was had by all members of the team.

The rowers are preparing furiously as usual for the G.P.S. Regatta. At the moment they are camping at the Boatshed. The Eight has had mixed luck in the preliminary regattas but every boy in the school has great confidence in the crew and we all feel sure it will rise to the occasion.

An extremely enjoyable barbecue was held at the Boatshed on the 25th February. All those who were wise enough to attend will undoubtedly remember the night for many moons. We extend our most gracious thanks to the Parents and Friends of the Boatshed for a grand evening. The Rowers Dance, arranged by the Women's Association, will be held as usual on the evening of the Regatta. All are undoubtedly looking forward to this event.

The swimmers have once more started the season well. It is hoped they will be able to follow the example of last year's record breaking team.

Tennis is every year gaining in popularity. This year, during the summer, over 120 boys have been playing tennis as their regular sport. We hope that this year the Senior Team will be able to excel itself and beat its main rivals, Shore, in the G.P.S. Tennis Tournament. The Under Sixteen Team is again strong. It will be defending its title for the eighth year in a row.

The Athletics Standards system has proved a great success. It is now run entirely by boys of the school. Record numbers entered for the latest trials which were held during March and the biggest problem now appears to be the accommodating of the entrants in the Weigall changing rooms. Mr. Moore must be congratulated on the great success of his scheme.

Mr. Moore has now introduced a circuit system of training for athletes which is held in the Palladium Building. Mr. Glenvale's weight-training for footballers has also been held in the Palladium.

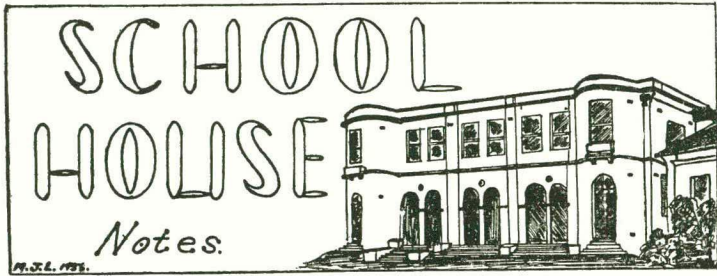

Large crowds of boys continue to be attracted by the various other activities which the school has to offer. The Chess Club, Choir and Orchestra are all enthusiastically supported by boys of varying ages. Debating has commenced with a keen following. This year's Globe Players production is 'St. Joan', and after last year's 'Pygmalion', it is keenly awaited by all.

An increasing number of boys are going to Outward Bound which has proved to be a highly successful scheme. It is hoped that more and more will continue to be attracted because Outward Bound can only serve to help the growing youth.

This year boys who are interested may try for the Duke of Edinburgh's Award. This course should also appeal to many. Similarly to Outward Bound, it can assist the young men to grow up because of the amount of initiative and effort needed by every participant.

No School Notes would be complete unless the school were to thank the Women's Association for the wonderful help given by the mothers to the school in so many ways.

J.C.A.

An influx of new boys has invaded St. Marks Road this year, no doubt with the intention of leaving their mark somehow, somewhere on the House. We welcome the following; Arthur, H.; Arthur, M.; Cowdery, Edwards, Fenbury, Fesq, Fishwick, Gates, Goold, B.; Hall, Hofstetter, Hughes, A., Lamond, Patterson, Raffan and Steel.

Last year boarders won thirteen passes in the Leaving Certificate out of a possible eighteen. Four candidates, Galland, Murchison, Burke and Davies, obtained honours. The Intermediate Certificate also yielded a number of passes to deserving boarders, 7 out of 11 passing the examination. This year we are expecting an even better scholastic aggregate from the sixteen sitting for the Leaving.

Two older members of the House, Mr. Saxby and Mr. McGillivray, are back with us this year. They are joined by a new resident Master, Mr. Adcock, who begins as a science master at school after holding a post for some years at Ipswich Grammar.

We congratulate the following on being appointed House Prefects for 1961: Conomos, Lukin, McConnell, Murchison, and Turner. Boag has returned as House Captain and Conomos, McConnell, Murchison and Turner have received school sub-prefectships.

Further measures have been taken this year to give the house prefects a greater role in the running of the group. This is aimed at giving boys at the House a better chance of developing their powers of oratory, and increasing or awakening their sense of responsibility. Mr. Searle, therefore, has handed over the evening assembly and the morning prayers to these senior boys and this has so far proved to be very successful. This may be linked with the 'House Parliaments' where boys are encouraged to air their views and with the series of speeches now being made at 'Tutor Group' in the morning.

A horizontal-striped bar has been designed and, in the near future, will adorn the House Prefect's pockets, replacing the normal house-bar.

So far this year we have been well represented in the School's sporting world. Gorman rows in the eight and Murchison in the third four is vice-captain of boats. The first and fourth fours are coxed by B. Lukin and W. Boag respectively.

McConnell plays in the 1st Eleven and has managed to take many wickets this season. Munro is a member of the seconds and Blair is in the thirds. With Conomos in charge of the points chart the House decisively won this term's Athletics Standard Competition.

The Sixth formers are at present adding the final touches to the totem pole, a more elaborate affair than in former years, for this year's regatta.

Murchison has taken over as Commander of the Air Training Corps In the Army Cadets Boag is a company commander, Conomos the Drum Major, Blair the Band Corporal and A. Warat a lance-corporal.

The House has been blessed with a gas hot water system this year, replacing the old erratic boiler. It is proposed to make the boiler room into a wash room where boys may wash their cups after evening supper. This could also be used by sixth formers after they've brewed their daily messes. Blue and grey lino tiles grace the dining room floor, taking the place of the lino covering, a memento of pre-war years. Vast sources of knowledge are now stored in the library in the form of two sets of encyclopaedias, gifts from the Women's Association.

Old boys of School House have honoured us with many visits this term: John McEwen, who is now at the Technical College, Jim Burke, a first year Medical student, Sid Moray, studying Economics, and Hugh McConnell, now with the Colonial Sugar Refining Company, were the first to visit us. Richard Nott, in Cowra with a wool firm, Greg Daly, serving with the Royal Navy, and Ian Simpson, who is learning the facts of farm life at Wagga Agricultural College, also came to tell us of their exploits 'outside.'

We look forward to an enjoyable and successful year for House boys both scholastically and in sport.

First Term 1961

GILES GROUP

This year we welcome twelve new boys to Giles Group, we hope their stay will be a pleasant and profitable one.

This year's Group Committee is as follows: Paul Cohen, Treasurer; Peter Stiles, Secretary; Francis Walker, Vice-Captain; and Robert Zutton is Group Captain.

Our congratulations go to the five boys from the group who passed their Leaving Certificate last year.

The Group's sporting activities have started with most pleasing results to date. We are well represented in the cricket teams by John Blair, Captain of the 2XI, and in the same team Long and McMillan. Sare and Lomas are members of the Colts 'A'. Robert Bradley is our only representative in the Regatta crews being in the fourth four. A commendable effort was made by the Group in the Standards Competition to finish third in the point score. David Murray achieving distinction with first class awards. Credit must go to Bill Whitby for his efforts in organising the Group in this competition. In swimming Philip Schmidt was a member of the schools swimming team.

With the introduction of the Duke of Edinburgh Awards to the school the Group has several boys participating, it is hoped they do well.

With the first term coming to an end the Group looks forward to second term with more vigorous and united efforts.

R.J.Z.

CHASE GROUP

The Committee this year is: Mr. D. E. Lloyd, Tutor; R. J. W. Cattlin, Captain; P. S. M. Falstein, Vice-Captain; W. M. France, Treasurer; P. C. Ellis, Secretary.

From amid the idle chatting of the Group comes one word, 'silence!!' (in a loud voice.) After most have regained positions and senses, our beaming tutor reads a typical threatening summons from the Librarian requesting the presence of some boys, and a book on 'needlework and tatting?' After this come various speeches including a pleading unhindered request to support school Cricket, a vague message of some Regatta somewhere, a call for more violinists by Watt, and some bare facts on coming athletics activities. I wonder what ideas the gaping new third formers have grasped of group life?

We were pleased to see and to congratulate Ellis and France on being sub-prefects.

Cricket teams were well represented with Cattlin, France and Storey in 1st XI, Ellis 2nd XI, Jennings 3rd XI and some enthusiastic players from under 13's.

Due to encouragement by Jonson and Syred and good willing spirit we are coming a close fourth in the Athletic Standards' Competition.

Instead of the usual 3d. per week collection, we voted that 5s. per boy, per term be given towards the Group funds.

R.J.W.C.

GROUP THREE

The Group has made an extremely good beginning this term. This was well shown in the Athletics Standards' Competition where we came a magnificent second to the House Group. This was a credit to all who participated with great enthusiasm, and our thanks must go to our tutor, Mr. Webster, for the staunch support and encouragement he gave.

We were well represented in other sports, with representatives in the Colts A, B and C, 14 A, B and C and in the 5th XI. A fair proportion of the group were rowers, and we had Malcolm Turner in the 2nd IV. Tony Rourke has also represented us, very successfully too, in tennis.

Group officers for the year were appointed at the beginning of the term. These are the office-holders: Group Captain, Malcolm Turner; Vice-Captain, and Secretary, Warwick Stening; Treasurer, David Jamieson; Assistant Treasurer, Tony Rourke; Group-Prefects, Chris Rodgers, Stephen Kay, Richard Gould and Phillip Burton-Gibbs.

We all express our congratulations to Malcolm Turner on his appointment to Sub-Prefect.

W.A.S.

GROUP FOUR

Group four has a great opportunity this year to exceed the high standard of recent years. Under the guidance of our tutor, Mr. Young, the group should take a prominent place in the school activities this year.

The 6th Form is large and is a good foundation on which to build a strong group. The group welcomes the 3rd formers and hope that they will fit in and enjoy their stay in the group.

We are glad to see I. Downing return as prefect and extend our congratulations to D. Hunt, D. Parker, J. T. D. Wood and R. Hindmarsh on their appointment as sub-prefects. I. Downing has also been promoted to S.U.O. of the cadets and D. Parker is a CUO. J. Maltby, 5th, has also been promoted to the rank of CUO.

The group committee for this year is: R. Hindmarsh, Captain; J. Wood, Vice-captain; I. Ross, Treasurer and J. Haddon, Secretary.

The Athletic Standards for first term were overshadowed by the large number of cricketers in the group. However some boys enjoyed and benefited from the activity, J. Haddon did an excellent job as group representative.

Mr. Young is coaching the 1st XI and the group wished him and the team success and good fortune (especially with rain) for this year. Three members of the group — D. Parker 6th Form, T. McCurdie 5th Form and J. Kenny 4th Form, who took 9 wickets for 10 runs in the 2nd XI against Newington, are in the 1st XI. Cartwright (3rds) Wood (4ths), McGilvray (15A), Evans (15B) are cricket captains, and are backed by other members of the group. In the lower teams and also the open the Group is well represented. There are twenty players in the seven most important Upper and Middle School teams.

The group has taken some of the tradition of rowing which Group ro has previously had, P. Harris and D. Leslie are rowing the eight and we hope that they will be in the winning crew. L. Frost is also in a regatta crew.

The scholastic side of school has not been neglected by the group as many boys are in the A and B Forms. Each boy in the group can find friends and mix easily in the group. New boys are influenced to make a determined effort in their school work by the example and standard of other boys.

Group IV was the first to pay a year's membership of the O.S.U. to boys leaving the Group. The Group appreciated the visit of the Headmaster on the 6th Formers' last day. I. Ross with his staff of body guards is gradually bringing up the fund to supply Old Sydneian membership to each 6th former who leave this year.

A large number of the boys from the group have found sport and other school activities to be very enjoyable and satisfying. It is hoped that younger boys might follow the example of the 6th formers who represent in many varied fields of the school. Thus the group is a ladder on which boys can climb to make their school days one to be remembered.

R. W. H.

GROUP FIVE

The Fifth Group under Mr. Mac.
Has once more brought the bacon back.
Vide: the deeds of Buttfield, C. ;
Of his exploits most proud are we.
School Captain he; whose praise we sing,
Shared Senior Knox with Lyndon Wing.
Now Richard Tanner wears the laurel,
Encouraging behaviour moral,
And he with Nickson as his mate,
Assists the shell to navigate.
Group Five is visible in cricket,
Where Bushby keeps a nimble wicket.
In warring field we number with the best,
And Lo! C. Pearce's name leads all the rest.
'Saint Joan' is graced with Patrick Guinness,
While Tony Carr excels at tennis.
Group funds are sound, but you won't break in;
We keep them in a biscuit tin.

The committee this year consists of Ray Kinkade (Captain); Geoffrey Bushby (Vice-captain); Donald Harris (Secretary); and Dick Tanner (Treasurer).

We would like once again to place on record our thanks to Mr. Macdonald for his help and guidance during the past year.

N.T.R.

GROUP SIX

This year our Tutor, Mr. Fraser, is assisted by the following Group Committee: J. P. A. Arnold, Captain; A. W. Wilson, Vice-Captain; W. Tuthill, Secretary; G. N. Gray, Treasurer.

Congratulations go to I. Curthoys and M. Issakidis of last year's Sixth Form. They both managed to gain Commonwealth Scholarships.

This year the Group is well represented in rowing and cricket; John Willis in the eight, having Bill Tuthill in the first four, and Tony Wilson in the 1st XI. Also John Taylor and Ian Robertson are in the 2nd XI.

The group this year has two sub-prefects; they are, John Arnold and John Taylor.

After some consideration, a 6d. per week tax has been imposed on the members of the Group. The purpose of this burden is to provide old-boys of the group with O.S.U. membership for one year.

J.P.A.A.

GROUP SEVEN

We are fortunate once again to have Mr. Glenvale as our tutor for 1961. The group committee for 1961 is: Captain, J. A. Chadwick; Vice-captain, L. A. Balzer; Secretary, R. C. Stevens; Treasurer, P. Dezarnaulds and M. A. Ross; Ex-Officio, I. E. Hottes and E. Tindall.

In sport we have been quite prominently represented. In rowing Mark Ross is in the 1st IV, Richard Beeman is cox of the VIII and Ian Hottes is, for the second year, in the VIII. He is also Captain of Boats. We are well represented throughout the junior crews.

The cricketers are Richard Stevens in the 1st XI and Peter Dezarnaulds and John Bumpstead are in the 3rd XI. Les Balzer is secretary of the Athletic Standards Competition. T. Helsby, R. Bancroft and P. Smith were our most prominent place-getters.

Eric Tindall is the only officer in the cadet corps while we have other ranks represented in the group.

J.A.C.

GROUP EIGHT

This year the group returned to school with the pleasing news that John Ancher has been appointed Senior Prefect. We heartily congratulate him, and also Bernard Hungerford who has been appointed sub-prefect.

Our congratulations must go to the great number of Sixth formers who gained a pass in the Leaving Certificate last year. Six boys have returned.

The groups numbers have been strengthened by the arrival of twenty Third Formers who are already helping the group in many sporting activities.

The group committee consists of J. S. Boyce, Captain; P. J. Goldsworthy, Vice-captain; J. M. Macready, Secretary; J. K. Peters, Treasurer.

We were well represented in sport during the first part of the year. J. C. Ancher played in the 1st XI, and four of our members are in regatta crews.

The group is again led by Mr. Carr who is as always untiring with our work and problems.

J.S.B.

MARKS GROUP

Our organisation for 1961 consists of Group Captain D. J. Duckett; Vice-captain, R. C. Freeman; Secretary, B. D. Carr; and Treasurer, S. A. Berts as the executive body and the following as form representatives: C. F. Coughlan, sixth; G. R. Butler, fifth; J. T. Parkinson, fourth; and D. P. Davis and P. H. Freeman third form.

The first weeks of term are always very busy in the groups but we are now settled down quite well. The organisation is running very smoothly and although we have not a great number of sportsmen we have the keen few who foster 'school spirit' with encouraging results. The group has more than its fair share of scholars which gives us good intellectual backing. In sport we have Stuart Berts in the Eight, Bruce Carr and Rod Freeman in the Second Four and some younger people in the Tubs. Representation is good in cricket with Dave Duckett being in the fourth eleven and many others in under 15 and 14 teams. Thus the Executive are worthy representatives in the major sports.

The Athletics Standards should have had better representation, even so the group finished ninth and we congratulate the few who participated and performed so well. More members will be required to participate when Standards are resumed.

Swimming has not been our strong point this year and from the four finalists of whom J. W. Liddell won the under 14 backstroke and P. H. Freeman came second in the under 14 novice to give us a total of five points.

The Duke of Edinburgh's Award created much interest in the group and five fifth formers, Madden, Huntley, Bright, Butler and Vine-Hall are 'going for' the Bronze Medal. They are keen and capable lads who have our best wishes for success.

D.J.D.

GROUP TEN

We regret the loss of our assistant tutor, Mr. Lane, who has taken over another group and wish him well with his group.

In last year's Leaving Certificate, W. Service, J. Eisman, R. Patrick, H. Gray and A. Lippey received Commonwealth Scholarships and twelve others passed. In all seventeen out of twenty passed. Three sixth formers returned from last year. The office-bearers consist of: Captain, Robert Bourke; Vice-captain, Brian Cross; Secretary, Bruce Marich and Treasurer, Robert Carroll. We congratulate Robert Bourke on becoming a Sub-prefect.

This year started with the usual welcome to new boys and their parents. Once again we must thank Mrs. Swan for providing the excellent supper.

Science Day, held on 23rd March, was a great success and we must again thank the mothers who helped with the meals.

In cricket, David Horsfield is playing for his third year in the First XI, while in rowing Brian Cross is in the VIII. Donald Stewart-Richardson was our main figure in Athletics Standards.

With John Service and Peter Howard swimming for the group in the carnival we look forward to good results.

Robert Bourke and David Horsfield are Cadet Under Officers while Ian McWilliam and Brian Cross are Sergeants.

Finally, we thank Mr. Maclay, our tutor, for his help and guidance.

P.B.M.

BARTON GROUP

This year Barton Group careers on its merry way under the excellent leadership of Mr. Hill and the dubious guidance of a peculiar committee which includes Brock Halliday, Tim Healey, Tony Blake and Jim Barkell. A watchful eye is being kept on our treasurer, David Nash.

Now that the Poker machines have been taken away, the total strength of the group has dropped from 1047 to 55. Of this remaining 55, many have no position of importance in the School or have any outstanding achievement to their credit. However, Tim Healey and Brock Halliday are CUO's and Grahame Walsh is a WO II. We extend our sympathies to the Cadet Corps. Also a few more of the peasants are senior or junior NCO's.

Among the mob who have not yet thought up a valid excuse to get themselves out of sport, Bacon is in the U 15 C XI, Marbury is in the 5th XI, Jagelman is in the 4th XI, Lesnie is in the 3rd XI and Barkell is in the 2nd XI. It is a thoroughly sickening thought that these boys, and many others, would submit to the awful disgrace of proficiency in sport without putting up a fight.

Several Barton Group-ites have added themselves to the Globe Players. Halliday, Samer, Smithers and Barkell have speaking parts, and several others have non-speaking parts. It is understood that these latter will be playing the parts of pieces of furniture.

The Group is arranging a Group Evening with tea and films. From the rate at which the preparations are being arranged, the Group Evening should take place around about the middle of 1972.

S.H.S.

GROUP TWELVE

We regret that Mr. Parr has left us last term but are very happy to have Mr. Lane as our new tutor. He has kept the group going very well this term by helping it to develop and bring a keener spirit into the group's activities.

In the school's activities this term the group has been well represented in all fields. Peter Deck represents in the 4th Four while Bill Carson plays in the 3rd XI. Other boys in the lower grades are doing well and seem to be taking a keener interest than in previous years.

We would also like to congratulate Martin Doran for his appointment as a sub-prefect and Bill Carson as an under-officer in the Cadets.

Stephen Herrick is our other representative in the rowing, being in the Third Four, and we would like to wish him and Peter Deck best of luck in the coming regatta.

Once again we thank Mr. Lane for his co-operation and trust that the group will continue to run as happily throughout the year as it has this term.

M.H.D.

Memorial library

The Library has little unusual to report but what there is is good. The provision of clerical assistance has made it possible to bring books forward more rapidly; to issue an occasional bulletin of new books; and some bulletins on special subjects; to handle correspondence without delay; to put the accounts in perfect order; to handle overdues more promptly and efficiently; to begin re-cataloguing and to deal with a great deal of incidental, records, and Sydneian matters in a businesslike fashion.

Of the problems that remain, stack and store space, and work space for boy assistants, are the only ones likely to interfere with progress and good order, and arrangements will be made to ease these as soon as possible. An intake of about one thousand books per annum is no light one and shelf space is only sufficient during normal borrowing periods. Seating space in the Reading Room is satisfactory though certainly not too much.

Lectures to probationary assistants were offered in first term and a short examination held. This sounds like a refined academic cruelty inflicted on volunteers, but in fact it produces happier assistants in later years; and those who fall by the wayside are doubtless happier doing other things.

The Library is being used by the Librarian as a demonstration field on how to work and search in libraries generally, both to select and chance groups. In particular an attempt is being made to improve boys' approach to books as sources of information.

Those taking responsibility this year are: R. Tong (Senior), M. Noel, Past Senior and Examiner; R. Howell, Staff Supervisor; W. Stening, Reading Room; F. Walker, Records; G. I. Smith, Repairs; J. McMahon, Periodicals; Marfleet, stack and store. J. Morris has assisted by surveying the re-cataloguing needs.

A word should be said about the catalogue: it is improving, but it is of course not much use to boys who will not take the trouble to follow its leads: it is still better than its average user.

It has been a pleasure to receive visits from more Old Sydneians than usual, and from some people from the other schools.

Mrs. Chase continues her magnificent and most generous support, always giving us the pleasure of seeing her when she brings her donations: we are most grateful.

Our thanks are due to the following, all most generous givers and many of them old friends of the Library:

First to Mrs. A. G. Lennox; Dr. D. Anderson; Dr. L. M. Wing; F. O. Walker, Esq.; W. E. Croker, Esq.; Rev. G. Garnsey; S. J. Marshall, Esq.; A. M. Cohen, Esq.; K. S. Williams, Esq.; R. Vicars, Esq.; J. F. Stephen, Esq.; B. W. Vitnell, Esq.; J. H. Moore, Esq.; R. J. T. Holland, Esq.; R. W. Maclay, Esq.; Broken Hill Pty. Ltd.; M. M. McGuinness, Esq.; P. du Toit, Esq.; D. G. Bayliss, Esq.; The German Embassy.

Also to some recent Old Sydneians: Mr. M. Barry; Mr. G. D. Davis; Mr. A. Obrart.

And to some who either left last year or are still here: H. D. Gray; John Antill; R. & P. Tanner; J. Eisman; A. T. Scotford; J. M. Smith; S. B. Moray; W. Service; R. Howell; A. Bush.

SYDNEY GRAMMAR SCHOOL SCIENCE ASSOCIATION

The President's Report, Annual General Meeting 23rd March, 1961

The Last Annual General Meeting was held on Science Day, 12th April, 1960. This event again proved to be a great success and was the best supported function during the whole year. Our sincere appreciation and gratitude is extended to the lecturers and organisations which contributed to the practical demonstrations which all helped to make Science Day 1960 interesting and entertaining to young and old.

Lecture by Dr. R. Giovanelli

On the 29th September, 1960 a science evening was arranged for parents and boys and an illustrated talk given by Dr. R. Giovanelli (Head of the Division of Physics (C.S.I.R.O.) and Vice President of S.G.S.S.A. This proved to be a most interesting talk and was fairly well attended. Supper was provided by the ladies at the conclusion of the evening.

Christmas Vacation Lectures

Following along the lines of similar lectures held in England it was decided to have a series of lectures at the beginning of the 1960 Christmas Vacation. Three lectures with demonstrations were arranged as follows:

December 12th 1960 'Physics at High and Low Temperature' by Dr. G. S. Bogle, Principal Research Officer, C.S.I.R.O. Division of Physics.

December 14th 1960 'What is Colour' by Mr. W. R. Blevin, Senior Research Officer, C.S.I.R.O. Division of Physics.

December 16th, 1960, 'New Paths in Biology' by Dr. A. S. Fraser, Principal Research Officer, C.S.I.R.O. Division of Animal Genetics.

Invitation to attend this series was extended to boys and girls of all the independent schools. The attendance however was disappointing there being only 45 to 50 people each evening. The lectures and demonstrations were excellent and deserved greater support than they received.

Black and Gold Ball

The S.G.S. Science Association supported this ball, by taking a party along, a very pleasant evening was spent with Old Boys of the School and the many friends which assist Grammar in its social functions.

Donations

The Association has been pleased to contribute during the past year towards prizes, scholarships and the School library.

JUNIOR SCIENCE ASSOCIATION

A junior association consisting of boys of the school functioned very well throughout the year, the lunch hour science films proving very popular.

Membership and Support

Although the association has been able to achieve a certain amount during 1960 much more could have been done, both from the point of view of arranging more functions and financial assistance, if a greater number of parents would come forward and join its ranks. We welcome a number of new members to their first Annual Meeting.

Appreciation

The success of the various functions held is due to the assistance and co-operation extended by the Head Master, Science Staff and the many outside organisations and people who have been always ready and willing to join in when requested. We congratulate the boys who did so well in the Science Teachers' Association Talent Quest and Mr. Maclay, whose efforts in Chemistry teaching have resulted in election as Fellow of the Royal Institute of Chemistry.

J.E.P.

SCIENCE DAY, 23RD MARCH 1961 PROGRAMME

Session 1 — Preparatory Schools

SESSION 1 — PREPARATORY SCHOOLS — 9.10 a.m. — 9.55 a.m. Film, 'History of the Cinema'. Demonstration Lecture, 'It Takes the Shakes'. Mr. R. W. Maclay, Science Master, Sydney Grammar School.

Session 2 — Second Forms

SESSION 2 — SECOND FORMS — 10 a.m. — 10.35 a.m. Film, 'Pan-Tele-Tron'. Demonstration Lecture, 'Is it Magic?' Mr. L. G. Little, Acting Additional Second Science Master Sydney Grammar School.

Session 3 — Sixth Forms

SESSION 3 — SIXTH FORMS — 10.55 a.m. — 11.35 a.m. Illustrated Lecture, 'Dyeing'. Dr. A. Datyner, Senior Lecturer, School of Textile Technology, University of New South Wales.

Session 4 — Fifth Forms

SESSION 4 — FIFTH FORMS — 11.40 a.m. — 12.15 p.m. Illustrated Lecture, 'Function of Modern Detergents'. Dr. G. H. Nicholls, Senior Lecturer, Textile Technology, University N.S.W.

Session 5 — Fourth Forms

SESSION 5 — FOURTH FORMS — 1.10 p.m. — 1.50 p.m. Demonstration Lecture: 'A Believer in Chemistry'. Mr. M. W. A. Cullen, Science Master, Parramatta High School.

Session B — Open Session

SESSION B — OPEN SESSION — 7.30 p.m. — 6.30 p.m. Film, 'Radiation'. Introduction of the Chairman, the President of the S.G.S. Science Association, Dr. E. P. George, who will present the Annual Report.

Introduction of the Principal Lecturer, Professor M. Chaikin, School of Textile Technology, University of New South Wales. Illustrated Lecture, 'Fibre Science'. Short Fantasy Film, 'Short and Suite'.

Films at these Sessions have been lent by the Canadian Film Office and Philips Electrical Industries, Union Carbide.

Preparatory Schools, Session 1

An entertaining and informative film about movies was followed by a demonstration lecture by Mr. Maclay, who illustrated the behaviour of Sound with the aid of a crowbar, a spade, a sonometer. He also explained the way in which bats use echoes to find their prey, dodge obstacles in the dark and dodge each other. A stuffed bat was kindly lent by the Zoology Department of Sydney University.

Second Forms Session 2

A film about communications, cleverly animated, was to provide contrast to Mr. Little's entertaining chemistry demonstrations. All the excitement of the unusual was there: the explosions, the smells, the violet vapours, the unexpected changes. It was particularly appropriate for the 2nd Formers to see and hear Mr. Little who is otherwise unable to meet them in the present time-table. What's this about a fan club?

Sixth Forms Session 3

Dr. Datyner gave us all the glamour of dyeing effects, revealing much which should make many unsatisfied until they have mastered the fundamentals of a tertiary course to experience this fascinating 'game' first hand. Despite the profundity of his field, Dr. Daytner 'broke down' his subject with great success, not losing his audience on the way. His demonstrations, presented with the aid of an assistant, Mr. Buchsbaum, revealed the ease of the practising specialist, who loves his work and enjoys telling other about it.

Fifth Forms Session 4

Dr. Nicholls faced the difficult task of interesting a group of boys in soap and water. He explained many of those things which we are inclined to take for granted — What is soil? Why does soap aid in washing? What is the difference between soap and detergent?

The most interesting feature was the explanation and demonstration of the new ingredient in detergents which has culminated in the 'What's whiter than white' contests with which we are confronted by soap manufacturers. The new ingredient has the property of altering the wave length of ultra violet light so as to give visible white light.

Dr. Nicholls resisted the temptation to divulge information as to the make of soap used by his research team, thus vested interests could not be offended.

We must be grateful for the knowledge imparted by Dr. Nicholls in this lecture.

Third and Fourth Forms, Session 5 and 6

Mr. M. Cullen of Parramatta High School, in his usual easy to listen to style, spoke to 3rd and 4th forms about the importance of chemistry in shaping our way of life. He dealt in particular with the unexpected ways in which chemical advances have been of major important in such fields as agriculture and medicine.

Mr. Cullen presented us with a challenge. There are in the normal walks of life problems which must be solved for the sake of the welfare of our own country. The availability of food for the future being just one of these. Mr. Cullen showed that the boy of today and the chemist of tomorrow must face up to these problems, and must find a solution for them. We are grateful to him for showing us that there are still vital missions to be accomplished in the world of chemistry.

Demonstration Session 7

Acknowledgment is made elsewhere to all contributors. A special word of praise must be reserved for the Junior Science Association Demonstrators, especially the senior boys preparing for the Science Teachers' Association Talent Quest. Mr. Adcock must be remembered for his film projection in this and all the other sessions. The Mothers of boys of Tutor Group 10 did a remarkable feat of catering, feeding 129. The use of the amplifier, sheep shearing and exhibitions by outside organisations helped to remind the visitor of the Show, about to be opened. Great interest was shown in the shearing and we are indebted to Mr. C. V. Nathan for suggesting this in the S.G.S. Science Association Committee. Representatives of industrial organisations showed great interest in the team work which made the whole session so successful.

Open Sessions 8

Dr. George's Annual Report is given elsewhere. We cannot record too often our debt to him for giving so much time and wise direction to Science Association activities. Of great interest was his announcement of the election of Sir Ernest Fisk as Patron, that distinguished pioneer of telecommunications, principal Speaker of the Centenary Science Day (No. 10) and the Official Guest at the opening of the Science Building in 1958. We will look forward to Professor Wilhelm's activity with the new Science Association Committee.

Professor Chaikin finished a busy day, after giving important evidence in an unpleasant trial, with an audience of 400 — a great tribute to those who laboured in encouraging attendance. He gave a comprehensive cover of the fibre field, explaining the problems of synthesising anything like wool and the varied properties of its competitors. He drew attention to the need for wool to become available to the world market at a competitive price and warned of the folly of gambling the country's economy in the hope of higher prices. He stressed the limited value of promotion campaigns compared with their cost. The need for maximum effort in fundamental and applied research was evident. He had every expectation that artificial fibres of better properties than wool could be produced but probably not by Australia with the high cost of plant and labour. It was all a difficult and unpopular subject to the average of us who are so emotionally attached to wool. It all needs thoughtful study and we are indebted to Professor Chaikin for making the issues so clear for us.

It was good to see such a number of distinguished Old Sydneians including Michael Kafalias, fresh from success with his M.D.S.

Group 12: H. Dutton, W. Carson, J. Morris, J. McMahon.

R. Howell of Barton Group was most helpful in typing stencils for pamphlets explaining the experiments.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY

There has been a revival of this. We have had some films and a talk by one of the many successful Old Sydneian undergrads at Sydney University, Robert Rees. There has been a temporary lapse with Science Day interference, but we hope for a continuance of regular meetings as a branch, now, of Science Association activities.

SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

DEBATING

There is of course no inter-school debating news to report at this stage, but the talent appearing in practice debates at all levels is a good sign for the future.

The Upper School committee consists of Robson, Desiatnik, Sibree and Kelen; the Middle School representatives are J. Goodman, Bennets and Sonnabend. Their duties are not nominal, and I am grateful for their assistance. The programme so far has been light, with three senior and six junior team debates, and three open debates. Eleven senior boys have participated and twenty-two juniors (3rd and 4th form, plus two 2nd formers). Occasionally teams are given notice of the subject before the day: this helps with difficult subjects.

Interesting views and voting were shown in two open debates: the Upper School speakers decided — convincingly — by 4 to 1 'that crime pays'. We have also had our first parliamentary debate, in which the Middle School decided, by 9 to 6, 'that our next Governor General should be an Australian' (all boys spoke). The annual competition between the 3rd and 4th Forms is still in progress at the time of writing. Boys of all ages have responded very well to tape-recording of two-minute impromptu speeches. There was little 'mike fright' but plenty of surprise and even horror at hearing one's own voice.

The work of adjudication has been varied by the able assistance of Mr. Sheldon and Mr. Harrison, and also of senior debaters.

By the time these notes are printed our main interest will be the G.P.S. Competition. Two of the debates are at Grammar against High — June 2nd, against St. Joseph's — June 30th and one at River-view (July 28th). The Lawrence Campbell will be on July 14th, when youthful demagogues will use the Big Schoolroom to storm the Bastilles of 1961.

I would like to end on a quiet note by joining with Old Sydneian debaters in grateful recollection of the work done by our late-beloved 'Toby' Lumsdaine, who for so many years gave debating the benefit of his vital personality and sound scholarship.

THE DUKE OF EDINBURGH'S AWARD

The best means of introducing the Scheme would be to quote its Patron, H.R.H. Prince Philip, and its Secretary, Sir John Hunt, who first conquered Mt. Everest in 1953.

Prince Philip says: 'It is designed as an introduction to leisure time activities, a challenge to the individual to personal achievement, and as a guide to those people and organisations who are concerned about the development of our future citizens.

'I hope that all those who take part in this scheme will find an added purpose and pleasure in their lives. I am quite sure that all who enter for this scheme and all those who help to run it will gain that special sense of satisfaction which comes from the discovery of hidden abilities and from helping others to overcome a challenge.'

To this Sir John Hunt adds: 'The offer of Awards to young people by the Duke of Edinburgh is an expression of His Royal Highness's belief that all young people should be given the fullest opportunities and encouragement to make the best use of their leisure, by taking part in activities which are both enjoyable and character-building.'

The tendency this century towards specialisation, the concept of the Welfare State, the greater availability of sit-down entertainment in its various forms, promoting what has been termed as 'spectatoritis', have all made it increasingly harder for young people to find opportunities for personal achievements.

Since the Scheme was started in 1956, more than 60,000 British boys between the age of 14 and 19 have tested themselves in fields of achievement and challenge. There is no individual competition among boys, or among organisations such as schools which are sponsoring the Award. Each boy measures himself against a reasonable standard, which should be within reach of most boys, provided that they make the effort. Without this element of personal effort, the scheme would be valueless. The standards also encourage boys to be all-rounders.

Following Judge Adrien Curlewis's visit to England in 1958 to discuss the scheme with the Duke of Edinburgh and Sir John Hunt, two Sydney schools, Grammar and Shore, have adopted the Scheme, and are the first to do so in Australia. In October, 1960, Brigadier J. R. Broadbent agreed to become Secretary of the Scheme in New South Wales. Earlier this year, Lieutenant-Colonel Heald, Assistant Secretary to the Scheme in Britain, came to the School to show the Award film and discuss it with boys. About 90 boys of the School have already begun to take part.

To merit an award, a boys must qualify at a level appropriate to his age in each of the following sections:

(a) Rescue and Public Service. This means training to be of service to the community. For instance, younger boys undertake a First Aid course; others will learn life-saving, surf-life-saving, or perhaps bushfire fighting.

(b) Expedition. The first of these is a 15-mile cross-country expedition on foot, the boys travelling in groups of about four without an adult accompanying them; later expeditions may be made by cycle, canoe or similar means.

(c) Pursuits or Projects. A boy must undertake a specific leisure-time activity, not connected with his school work, for a minimum period of six months.

(d) Physical Fitness. This requires the candidate to reach an average standard of achievement in a selected group of physical activities of his own choice.

Boys may enter the Scheme at any time; they may also continue to progress in the Scheme after leaving School. There are three levels of the Award, Bronze, Silver and Gold. Every Gold Award so far gained has been presented personally by the Duke of Edinburgh.

Those who are undertaking the Award would do well to consider carefully the aims of the Scheme and the part they are expected to play. They should also bear in mind Sir John Hunt's words: 'There is one final point, and the most important of all. By going in for these activities, boys will be acquiring self-reliance; it is hoped that they will also be learning the satisfaction and the value of using their talents in the service of others. Both these qualities are important attributes of citizenship. But these alone are not enough, a spiritual faith is also needed . . . for on this factor, interpreted in its widest sense, the value of this Scheme will ultimately depend.'

CRUSADERS

This year we have started successfully. A total of forty boys from Grammar attended the camps at Lake Macquarie in the New Year, and thoroughly enjoyed themselves. One half-hour was provided each day for private Bible reading before breakfast, and afterwards the camp Chaplain would lead us in corporate study. The rest of the day was ours — for football, Ruddox, archery and sailing, to mention just a few of the activities available. I would like to express the thanks of all the campers to Mr. Young, who was commandant of the senior camp, for the effort and enthusiasm he displayed in this role.

Since the beginning of term, attendances at the Wednesday Meetings have been encouraging, particularly in the last few weeks. These meetings are held at lunch-time each week in the Science Auditorium, and we try to provide interesting films and speakers, with the aim that they may be of some help. Our Prayer Meetings now take place on Mondays, it being thought that this time was more appropriate than Friday. The Bible Studies have proved most helpful to all who have been attending them, and attendances are steadily mounting.

The thanks of all the boys go out to Mr. Lane and Mr. Young for their help in the studies, and especially to Mr. Little, the School Councillor, for his unfailing and enthusiastic help in the organisation of meetings.

We are looking forward enthusiastically to the months ahead of us and we hope that Crusaders will continue to be supported by the boys of the school.

CHESS CLUB

The Chess Club at the moment is more than usually flourishing. In addition to our old friends we have a very large influx of 2nd Formers, many of whom are very competent players — we must thank our Prep. Schools for that. We hope to be able to field — if that is the term — three First Year Teams and avenge some of the defeats of last year which was a comparatively unsuccessful year.

The A team has lost three of its most consistent winners and we might find it hard to retain the Cup which we have won for the last couple of years. However we shall do our best with our comparatively inexperienced team.

Our Chess Captain, Richard Gastineau-Hills came 4th in the Australian Junior Championship held in Melbourne in January.

We have been very pleased to see Mr. Sheldon in the Chessroom at lunchtime so often.

R.A.N.R. CADETS

The Navy Cadets have had a good start at Rushcutter Bay Naval Depot this year, with six second year cadets and twenty first year boys.

We have now a training officer, Lieut. D. Daish and C.P.O. Rogers has replaced P.O. Knight who was in charge of us last year, and who has been sent to sea. Lieut. Trimble has been organising our activities from the school and has planned a full programme for us during the Army's Bivouac.

A timetable has been given to us setting out the instruction we will receive over the year. To date the seamanship instruction has included learning the various parts of a Whaler, and practical experience has been gained by sailing and boat pulling. Semaphore instruction has also been popular with the boys.

With such a good start, the year should be very instructive to all the Cadets.

M.G.P.

THE CADET CORPS

In the stress of examinations, the 90th birthday of the Corps passed unnoticed last November. It is the oldest, as it is the biggest, institution in the School and perhaps it is not too early to express the hope that its centenary will be celebrated with all proper ceremony in — or about — November, 1970!

The ceremonial parade of 31st October, 1960 took place under the eye of Brig. F. G. Galleghan, D.S.O., O.B.E., I.S.O., E.D., Honorary Colonel of the Australian Cadet Corps (N.S.W.). He expressed his satisfaction at a smart and well turned-out parade. Brigadier Galleghan presented awards to: Cadet J. J. Barkell, most proficient cadet in A and B Coys.; Cpl. R. O. Bourke, 4 Sec. 5 Pl., the Mitchell Cup for the best L.M.G. section; C.U.O. I. K. Downing, 5 Pl. B Coy., the Walcott Cup for the best platoon in A and B Coys; C.U.O. J. Ewing, Aslt. Pnr. Pl., the Morgan Shield for the best platoon in H.Q. and Sp. Coys.; the Senior Under Officer, C.U.O. J. L. Gleeson, the Henry Sword of Honour. John Gleeson is the first officer to win the Sword twice and this is no surprise to the Corps in which his soldierly bearing and spirit have been outstanding.

On the next ceremonial a cup given by 2 Lt. D. H. Fussell, R. Aust. Inf., in memory of his father Maj. L. G. Fussell, M.C., will be presented for the first time. The cup is to be awarded within H.Q. and Sp. Coys. on conditions to be announced later.

Former members of the Corps continue to distinguish themselves. Capt. John Fletcher, O.C. H.Q. Coy. in 1951, was awarded the George Medal for his gallantry last year when a number of commandos were drowned in Port Phillip. Lt. John Grey graduated from Duntroon in December and has been posted to an armoured regiment in Victoria. 2 Lt. Douglas Fussell graduated from Portsea and is serving with 3 Bn., R.A.R. Six of last year's officers and N.C.O.'s have been promoted to corporal in the Sydney University Regiment. At Duntroon, Rollo Brett has joined 4th Class, keeping our numbers there up to four.

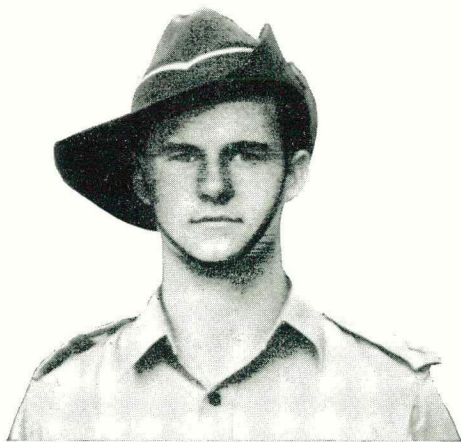

Results in Brigade and Unit courses were mainly good but not all candidates at Singleton realised the effort required for success and that representatives of this unit are expected to set the standard in their squads. Cpl. R. O. Bourke was placed 9th (out of 400) in the C.U.O.'s course; Cpl. L. A. Balzer was 4th (out of 400) in the W.O.'s and Sgts. course; L.Cpl. J. N. Crofts was 1st in the Intelligence course. At Weigall, Cadet P. H. Guinness was top of the Junior N.C.O.'s Course and, owing to the kindness of Lt.-Col. I. M. Hutchinson, D.S.O., O.B.E., M.C., E.D., the Brigade Commander, was presented with a prize to mark his success. Once again, Old Sydneians contributed to the success of this course. We wish to thank Lt. Brian Dickey, S.U.R. for his enthusiastic help throughout; also Sgt. R. M. Keep, Royal Military College, who gave up some of his leave to act as Course S.M. A former C.U.O., Lt. Keith Laxton of 2 Royal N.S.W. Regt., brought a team of tough young N.C.O.'s. to give an exhibition of infantry weapons and an exciting demonstration of unarmed combat. The audience, if somewhat shaken, was very appreciative. Our thanks to Lt. Laxton and his N.C.O.'s.

At the end of 1960, the Corps was transferred from 8 Cadet Bn. to 7 Cadet Bn. In our long association with 8 Bn., the Corps has received endless kindness and help from commanders and instructors and we thank Capt. C. R. Cooper and his staff. Capt. J. Sheedy and the staff of 7 Bn. have made us welcome and we are glad to have an old friend, W.O.II Ostara, as instructor.

I should like to congratulate and offer my good wishes to my successor in the command, Capt. R. L. Rofe, who, after commanding the Newington Cadet Corps has served with us for seven years as Q.M. and latterly as Adj. and Q.M. The Corps also welcomes Lt. R. G. Adcock who has transferred from Ipswich Grammar School in Queensland.

Senior promotions at the beginning of the year were: Senior Under Officer and O.C. A Coy., C.U.O. I. K. Downing; Company commanders, C.U.Os. J. C. Ancher (B); C. S. Boag (Sp.); W.O.II J. P. A. Arnold (H.Q.) promoted C.U.O.; to C.U.O.: Sgts. D. W. Horsfield, R. B. Halliday, W. M. Carson; Cpls. R. O. Bourke, J. N. Maltby, D. R. Parker, T. C. Healey, B. T. Hungerford, E. N. Tindall, M. S. Turner; to W.O.I: Cpl. L. A. Balzer (R.S.M.); to W.O.II: Cpls. C. G. A. Pearce, J. D. C. Willis; L.Cpls. G. S. Walsh, R. W. Hindmarsh, M. J. Hill (R.Q.M.S.); to Drum Major: Sgt. G. G. Conomos; to S. Sgt.: Cpl. R. P. Howell; to Sgt.: Cpl. R. F. Windeyer; L. Cpls. J. J. Barkell, P. R. Smith, J. N. Crofts, J. F. Cartwright, M. K. Smithers, B. N. Cross, N. T. Robson, D. B. MacMillan, I. D. MacWilliam.

A.J.H.

CAPT. J. FLETCHER, G.M., WHO WAS AWARDED THE GEORGE MEDAL FOR GALLANTRY IN 1960

MAJOR A. J. HILL, M.B.E., E.D.

On the 20th March 1961, Major A. J. Hill retired from command of the Cadet Corps, a post which he held with distinction for the past 12 years. Probably few school cadet units in Australia have had such an experienced soldier commanding them for so long. Commissioned in 1936 in the 30 Infantry Battalion — the New South Wales Scottish Regiment — Major Hill served in the Middle East, New Guinea and Borneo during the 1939-45 war and for two years of this period was Brigade Major of the 20th Australian Infantry Brigade, of which Sir Victor Windeyer was then Brigadier. After the war, Major Hill continued to serve with the CMF until quite recently, In 1954 he was appointed Honorary Military ADC to His Excellency the Governor of New South Wales.

When Major C. D. Taylor retired from the command of the Corps in 1949 Major Hill was appointed his successor and brought to this position not only his extensive military knowledge but also a tremendous enthusiasm and a determination to make a good corps even better by emphasising its training. There is little doubt that he has succeeded. Tangible evidence is the large number of cadets from the Corps who have obtained top places at junior leaders' courses conducted by the Army for school cadets and who have obtained other distinctions. But Major Hill would undoubtedly prefer his period of command to be remembered for other less tangible ideas he has stressed; loyalty, obedience, the concept of service rather than privilege instilled into junior leaders, the emphasis on being 'Regimental' and possibly above all the belief in the ability of senior boys to carry out the responsibilities of command successfully.

Major Hill enters upon his retirement from the Corps with the good wishes and thanks of all those many many cadets who have served under him.

A.T.C. NOTES

Once again this year No. 6 Flight Sydney Grammar School is progressing well with its training under the able leadership of its N.C.O.'s. and officers. A Flight is continuing its training in rifle drill, general service knowledge, armament and an advanced study of aircraft recognition, under Sgt. Verschuer, while Sgt. Gould is tackling the difficult task of training the new cadets.

The Flight maintained its high reputation at camps over the December-January period. The six cadets, A/Sgts. Murchison and Verschuer, Corporals Gould, Stiles, Pheiffer, Dutton, all passed and Murchison and Stiles took first and second places respectively on the Senior N.C.O. course. There was similar success on the Junior N.C.O. courses when A/Cpl. Andrew, and L.A.C's. Stening and W. Madden also passed successfully. The General Service Camps at Richmond and Williamstown were a success as usual. At all camps there were the usual attractions, such as flying, as well as much hard work for those who attended courses.

It is unfortunate that, owing to a shortage of time for preparation the Flight was forced to forfeit its chance at the Drill Competition on the 8th of April. However by the end of the year, when the next Competition comes there will be a carefully trained flight ready to regain the reputation of our Flight.

Rarely is it brought to the cadets' notice the amount of work that our Commanding Officer, Ft. Lt. Webster and our Adjutant Ft. Lt. Scott have to do to keep the Flight running smoothly.

The Flight is nearly up to full strength again, with a record number of N.C.O's. as well as a nearly full establishment of cadets. The Flight welcomes back Flg. Officer Randall, who has done much valuable work in the past. These are also two members of H.Q. Staff, Sgt. Aitken and Corporal Williams whose assistance is valued by the N.C.Os'.

It is interesting to note that Mr. Tom Verschuer, the brother of Sgt. Verschuer and an ex-member of the Flight, has gained his private-pilot license and has logged approximately two hundred hours. The Flight congratulates him on his achievements.

This year the Orderly Room is under the guidance of Cpl. Andrew and L.A.C. Little, while the Armoury is being maintained by Cpl. Edmonds and L.A.C. Huntley.

CRICKET

THIRD TERM, 1960

Good cricket saw the First Eleven finish in second place, the Second Eleven well in front as premiers and the Third and Fourth Elevens undefeated on the year's play. In the term, over all teams, 37 matches were won, 13 drawn and 22 lost.

Points in the G.P.S. competitions were as follows:

1ST XIs — 1st, S.J.C., 48 points; 2nd, S.G.S., 39 points; 3rd, N.C., 33 points; 4th, S.C.E.G.G.S., 26 points.

2ND XIs — 1st, S.G.S., 51 points; 2nd S.J.C., 35 points; 3rd T.K.S., 30 points; 4th N.C., 28 points.

THIRD TERM, 1960

FIRST ELEVEN

The 1960 Eleven was Runner-up to the St. Joseph's team, which it had beaten in the first round. St. Joseph's, whom we congratulate, gained 48 points to Grammar's 39. Both teams won five matches, but Grammar's wins were all on the first innings and those of the Premiers, who were a stronger bowling side and had two bowlers in the G.P.S. 1st Eleven, included three outright. St. Joseph's, though held to a draw in Round 4, gained a further four points on the Runners-up in Round 5, when there was no play on the second day, St. Joseph's having won on the first innings on the first day, which some of the Grammar batsmen had spent in the fascinating pursuit of many runs on the comfortable Weigall wicket.

It is implied — and shown in the scores, especially those of the last two rounds — that the Grammar bowling was not quite good enough to force outright; none of the bowlers had had any regular success in the previous year. Apart from Cattlin and Pigott, who made centuries together one fine day at Weigall, the batsmen were not at all consistent, each making only one or two good scores during the year.

In the G.P.S. teams, Cattlin was Vice-captain of the 1st Eleven, which he led, in the absence of the appointed Captain, in the Cricket Ground match. Three others — Ian Storey, all-rounder, Pigott, batsman and Wilson, just emerging as a leg-spinner — played for the G.P.S. 2nd team.

COMPETITION MATCHES

- v. THE KINGS SCHOOL at Weigall, 15-22nd October. Match drawn.

Grammar won the toss and batted on a beautiful wicket. Stenning took two quick wickets and Grammar were soon 4-64, Pigott joined Cattlin, then 25, and these two got on top of the bowling and systematically set about getting runs all around the wicket. Pigott's square drives were of particular note. The partnership realised 176 with Cattlin scoring 104 and Pigott being retired, feeling a little sick, at 100. The remaining batsmen were told to get some quick runs and fast running between wickets from Ancher and France helped.

Kings batted out the remaining hour and were 2-53 at stumps. I. Storey captured a wicket in his first over and finished with 2-26 off 7 overs.

Very heavy rain the next Friday night caused the match to be abandoned the second day without play.

v. NEWINGTON COLLEGE at Stanmore, 29th October-5th November. Grammar won on the first innings.

Grammar won the toss and batted in overcast weather. Just after the first wicket had fallen at 17, rain fell and play was held up for 125 minutes, restarting after an early lunch. With the score at 2-68

Cattlin became associated with McConnell for a partnership of 95. These two seeing the slow outfield stopping their shots reverted to some clever running between wickets which also served to upset the bowling. McConnell stayed on and paved the way for later batsmen with some good straight drives, but the tail did not quite take advantage.

Grammar declared at 8-247 and Newington started their innings at 10.15 a.m. the next Saturday. McConnell opened with some fast bowling taking 3-24. Wilson took over and spun the ball well getting his wickets mostly from close in catches. Newington were nine wickets down at lunch.

Newington followed on and after some quick scoring I. Storey took two successive wickets, 2-25. Conditions had worsened with the wind stronger and pitch dead. Horsfield, Wilson and Cattlin did most of the bowling, with the first of the three deserving better than his figures show.

Newington at stumps were '8-181.

v. ST. IGNATIUS COLLEGE at Riverview, 12th-19th November.

Grammar won on the first innings.

Grammar won the toss and batted on a pitch which was unexpectedly soft at one end, and fairly dead at the other. These conditions accounted for the first three wickets. All Grammar's batsmen were playing their shots early and hitting the ball hard. Ross batted patiently at the start while Horsfield and Ancher did not waste time in their valuable 45 partnership.

St. Ignatius started batting at about 2.30 p.m. in perfect conditions but scored at a slow rate early. After the swing bowlers Wilson and Cattlin came on and looked like getting a wicket. However Horsfield later produced results and after a break of 30 minutes because of rain Wilson took a wicket. Riverview were 7-115 at 5.30 and all out for 119 next Saturday.

Grammar's second innings produced some constructive cricket with Pigott and Cattlin batting well. The innings was closed at 2.20 p.m. with the score 6-152.

After an early wicket by Storey, St. Ignatius showed some unsafe but stubborn batting, particularly at the end. Although there were some fielding errors wickets fell fairly regularly, but Grammar's bowling was not quite persistent enough to get the opposition out for an outright win in the time allowed.

THE REST

Further notes on Third Term, 1960 depend on how teams furnished records without being asked twice or three times. Fortunately, in a way, not all playing cricketers are so interested in cricket writing.) The record of the 2nd XI speaks for itself. With Mr. L. O. Scott as pilot to high things and Alan Anderson as Captain, this team flew from win to win and finished each day pleasantly with what might also have been seen as a victory tea; photo appears elsewhere. Mr. R. I. Ross's 3rd XI makes chief mentions of the batting of P. Ellis (centurion) J. Taylor and P. D. Dezarnaulds, and the bowling of S. Jennings and Ellis. The 4th XI (Coach, Mr. R. Carbines, and Captain, J. Wood) irresistible in the field, is almost invisible in the records, though 6 wickets for 32 by D. Duckett catches the eye and other names of redoubtable departed are D. Lequesne, G. Rowling, D. Townsend and S. Ferguson. The 5th XI (D. Harper, captain) contained the known names of Blaikie, D. Schreiber, Warburton and H. Lesnie. The Colts A of Mr. George Garnsey (to whom a reluctant farewell has been made) were praised mainly for the captaincy of T. McCurdie and a good recovery to form in the season's last match, other names of chief mention being I. Robertson, J. Cartwright, D. McMillan, J. Barkell and J. Bumpstead. Mr. K. Potten's Colts B, well reported by the captain, G. Frumar, had two good wins and, without question, the best of training. G. Huntley was the busy captain of Colts C (Mr. F. Earle).

W. Sare (Captain) reported good things of Under 14A (Mr. H. A. Macdonald) but the best reporting came from the captain of Lower School B, (reports unsigned) and his spelling of 'Grammar' improved at a certain point as the weeks went on. Mr. E. Brown took his Prep. teams around the shires each Saturday morning, with benefits that will no doubt later show.

FIRST TERM, 1961

FIRST ELEVEN

The team has won two matches outright, lost outright to St. Joseph's, who are now the undefeated leaders, and drew at Mackay Oval on two days when the other three G.P.S. matches were in drier lands farther west and were won either outright or on the first innings.

There are six of last year's Firsts, two who spent last year in the Seconds, two who reached the Seconds in Third Term and one from last year's Thirds. In the last four First Elevens, the number returning has been five or six each year.

The experienced players were expected to produce most of the runs, although only one of them had succeeded in doing much with regularity in last year's team. They have been found wanting against some of the very good bowling attacks which have appeared this year. Also, they have had to play on a variety of wickets which must be described as extraordinary, beginning at Weigall against a loose bowling attack, which rather encouraged the illusion that the batting was competent.

The gloomy chords should not, however, dominate this piece. Cattlin has been splendidly consistent as an opener, with an average so far of above 40 runs. McConnell and Wilson have done some superb bowling; one will long remember McConnell's 5-13 at St. Joseph's and Wilson's 7-34 at Shore. Parker has made excellent progress as wicket-keeper and was accessory in nine dismissals in the Melbourne Grammar match. Perhaps the highest spot was the narrow victory, with one player in bed, on the second day of the match against the previously unbeaten Shore team — a particular triumph for Wilson and McCurdie, the 'little men' with the big temperaments which the situation called for.

COMPETITION MATCHES

- v. NEWINGTON COLLEGE at Weigall, 18th-27th February.
Won outright by ten wickets.
Grammar won the toss and batted on a perfect Weigall wicket.

From the start the openers scored quickly and confidently, Ancher middling the ball well off the fast bowlers. At lunch Grammar were 1-154, scored in 135 minutes. From this basis the following batsmen scored freely by attacking cricket until the innings was declared at tea, 281 for 5 in 264 minutes.

In the 90 minutes remaining Newington lost 4-53 (France 2 wickets, McConnell 1 and a run out). The success of these two continued on the second day and Newington were all out just before 11 a.m. for an additional 38 runs.

In the follow-on runs came freely to the Newington openers who threw their bat at everything from the tired opening bowlers. However Wilson and Cattlin combined well and despite some disheartening fielding, finally broke through, 1-131, and their persistence and concentration kept wickets falling at regular intervals.

Cattlin and Ancher made the required 22 runs with batsmanlike strokes.

v. SYDNEY HIGH SCHOOL at Mackay Oval, 4th-11th March.
Match Drawn.

Grammar won the toss and sent High in on a soft wicket. McConnell took two quick wickets in succession in his fourth over and Owen, the next batsman, was unluckily dropped the next ball. The pitch soon dried out and showed no life for the rest of the day. The strong southerly wind proved no help to Kenny, having his first game, so McConnell resumed and, with Wilson bowling successfully at the other end, had High in trouble by lunch. During the adjournment the wind increased and the bowlers' control varied in the afternoon. High made 130 runs.

Grammar's innings began two and three-quarter hours before stumps. Had it not been for 30 minutes delay due to rain the runs required for a first innings lead would almost certainly have been made.

After the Grammar batsmen had got on top of the bowling there were some good shots, particularly drives, played. Cattlin and Storey added 64.

The unfortunate state of Mackay Oval on the second day after Friday rain together with showers during the afternoon forced the match to be abandoned.

v. ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE at Hunter's Hill, 18th-25th March.
Lost outright by 32 runs.

The new wicket area at Hunter's Hill was by our match completely devoid of grass. It provided poor playing conditions for both sides.

St. Joseph's elected to bat and due to a thoughtful, accurate spell to suit the pitch and humid conditions, McConnell, ably supported by France and Kenny, dismissed the home side for 46.

In the 30 minutes remaining to lunch the Grammar batsmen found the ball hard to judge off the pitch, and scored 1-17. Apart from Cattlin and Kenny, who showed determination, Grammar offered little more resistance and were shocked to find themselves 8 wickets down for less than the other teams score. Grammar led by five runs on the first innings.

St. Joseph's second innings started with quick wickets from McConnell and France, 2-5. Kenny took over with the wind and bowled on the spot, wearing the batsmen down. Cattlin nicely trapped Boyd out of his crease and at stumps St. Josephs were 5-71. The wicket was a little better on the second day and the score was soon 9-96 but some unexpected hard hitting took the total to 127.

Grammar seemed to have the match in hand but weak batting by numbers 3, 4 and 5 resulted in 5 wickets down for 48, little better than the first innings. The tail tried to retrieve the position with some fighting cricket from McCurdie and Stevens to take the total to 90 for Grammar to record a most disappointing loss.

v. MELBOURNE GRAMMAR SCHOOL at Melbourne, 30th March-1st April.

Lost on 1st Innings by 10 runs.

The weather was quite hot with a blustery north wind blowing. Melbourne again won the toss and batted on a rough grassy wicket. Dentry immediately attacked our bowlers who had to sacrifice pace for control. The batsmen were uncomfortable as soon as Wilson started bowling into the wind. He had immediate success claiming wickets in the first and third overs, the fast wicket suiting his spinners. McConnell then claimed two. Kenny swung the ball effectively, then Cattlin partnered Wilson for a time, and each secured a wicket.

Sydney's innings started at 3.30 p.m. The openers found the new ball faster off the wicket and were in position too late. Storey and McConnell figured in a valuable partnership 2-65 at 5.30 p.m. After the disappointing display at St. Joseph's, Grammar's middle batting showed some good concentration and patience.

On Saturday morning two quick wickets fell but Horsfield, McCurdie and Stevens played themselves in and were hitting solidly until impatience caused bad strokes, 6-139. The tail wagged bravely but Sydney were out for 189, ten runs short of a first innings lead.

Melbourne started their innings at 2.36 p.m. and a fighting effort from France and McConnell bowling with great pace and accuracy soon had them 3-21. After a stand by the Captain, Thomas and Little, Wilson got 3 quick wickets, and 8 were down for 105. Time was running short however and Melbourne batting on totalled 9-182 at the close of play.

v. S.C.E.G.S. at Northbridge, 8th-15th April.

Won outright by 11 runs.

The oval at Northbridge was perfect for cricket, the wicket however had a thick bed of grass and Grammar, sent in by Shore, soon found it difficult. Cattlin and McConnell were the only batsmen to reach double figures and handle the bowling, and at 8-43 the innings was closed at 11.45 a.m. to give Shore a taste of the same conditions. This proved a success and Shore was 3-10 at lunch, McConnell having 2-0 in his first over.

The score was 6-16 before 2 o'clock but two left-handers reached double figures and Shore finally totalled 54. The wicket had improved somewhat and Cattlin and McConnell opened confidently in the second innings and at stumps Grammar were 2-62.

The wicket had been cut much closer for the second day and the weather, though windy, was good. However three wickets fell for the addition of one run but thanks to a solid 26 not out from McCurdie the total went to 108, leaving Shore 98 to win.

With three wickets down for 54, all to McConnell who had bowled consistently well, Shore was on top. At this stage Wilson found a length and the score changed to 5-54 in one over. Wilson continued to bowl with great accuracy to take the remaining five wickets for an additional 20 runs — a truly match winning effort ably supported by France who kept the other end bottled up.

1ST XI EASTER TRIP TO MELBOURNE

The 1961 first eleven experienced a rugged time both socially and climatically and a very pleasant Easter was enjoyed with our host of M.C.E.G.S.

Greeted by the renowned Melbourne weather Mr. Young and his troupe were immediately received at the Melbourne Cricket Club and had their first glimpse of the Melbourne sky-line from the heights of the Cricket Coliseum over an immense smorgasbord in the dining room.

The team was then driven by the not so perilous Melbourne taxis to Melbourne Grammar where we were met by our hosts and the news that any chance of practice had now disappeared.

The art of cricket kept the twelve and scorer busy for the greater portion of Thursday, as reported elsewhere, and we returned to our places of abode in the evening to be generously entertained by our hosts at a theatre party — The Student Prince — a thirsty play of great renown.

The next day being Good Friday occupations of the various members were in the hands of their respective hosts. Some of the party crammed into one of the available cars and motored around the curves of Frankston.

Again on Saturday we found the rain kindly remaining aloof and the cricket match ended after an exciting struggle. That evening a dance was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. K. Thomas which will hold many pleasant memories although some of our partners hardly appreciated our high rating as jive men.

Upon recovering from the previous evening's entertainment both battalions were conveyed to Point Lonsdale for a barbecue in the grounds of Mr. and Mrs. Little's holiday home. We then experienced the southern surf direct from the South Polar regions and generally succeeded in enjoying ourselves in beach contests. I feel it is appropriate at this stage to extend the congratulations of the XI to John Sandy Wood who won, and very deservedly so, the title of Sand Dune Champ.

Monday had been set aside for private amusements and amuse ourselves we certainly did. Ten Pin Bowling, possibly one of the roughest and most exciting of Australian sports, entertained some; puzzling out the technicalities of high marking and the Australian Rules football game in general, others, while a night without sleep to follow occupied several of the party.

Tuesday morning saw each and every one gathering themselves and baggage for farewells and departure at noon, accompanied by a few Melbourne tears — but alas only from the Melbourne sky.

SECOND ELEVEN

Two outright wins, a draw and a first innings loss, have placed the team among the leaders in the competition. This has mainly been due to the long line-up of consistent batsmen, led by H. Munro with an average of 46.5 runs. The bowling, apart from Kenny's outstanding performance of 12 wickets for 23, has been limited in its success. The thrilling, last minute, outright victories against Shore and Newington highlighted the season's cricket.

The team comprised three of last year's premier side: J. Blair (captain), R. Hindmarch (V.-captain) and H. Munro; new members were J. Anderson, J. Barkell, P. Ellis, D. Hunt, D. Long, B. McMillan, J. Robertson and J. Taylor.

J.D.B.

AMONG THE REST

The 3rd XI, like all six senior teams, began the series with an outright win, but that was the only occasion on which they have so far equalled the famous 1960 record. The remaining senior teams foraged and fended for themselves in good field spirit. 4th XI (J. Wood, captain) showed all-round talent in three wins and a loss. 5th XI (G. Huntley) had only one win, turning on winning form twice in a second innings when it was too late. 6th XI (P. Jennings) were twice beaten by quite stronger teams but contested the issue in no mean manner. Colts A

(Mr. K. Potten and B. McGilvray) had an interesting term, somewhat on the credit side. Colts B (Mr. R. Carbines) were undefeated and, in a rather unsuccessful series at Hunters Hill, were the only Grammar team to win outright. The Under 14 captains were W. Sare, R. Bevan and P. Bushby and good measure of success are reported. Lower School A (Coach, Mr. J. D. Leslie) won four matches out of five.

SWIMMING

G.P.S. Championships

After some years of record-breaking success, our representative relay teams this season could score only a second and two thirds. Congratulations to Shore on their climb to success. However, our supremacy in the point score over events for all ages at the Shore Invitation Carnival, seen together with the performances at our own meeting, suggest that a bright future is nearer than may have been anticipated. And, for the present, the records for all G.P.S. relays remain here.

The School Carnival

Favoured fortunately with the last of the season's warm weather, the Annual Carnival was held at North Sydney Olympic Pool on Friday 14th April. With the increasing coolness of the water and a fortnight's lapse after the end of the club season a high standard of performance was not expected. However, the competition was keen, the afternoon moved at comfortable speed and even several new records were made.

Major results of the meeting were:

GROUP CHAMPIONSHIP: 1. Group 10, 40 points; 2. Group 7 — 35 points; 3. Chase Group, 27 points.

LOWER SCHOOL COMPETITION: 1. Prep, 15 points; 2. IIC, 13 points; 3. IID, 12 points.

ATHLETICS STANDARD COMPETITION

This year's first Athletics Standard Competition was a undoubtedly most successful, not only from the athletic point of view, but also on the administration side. A total of no less than 400 boys tendered over 1,000 entries and gained a total of 373 Standards, 64 being First Class, 254 Second Class and 619 Third Class.

Recognition must go to the following boys who gained the distinction of a First Class Standard:

Credit must go to House Group for its excellent win and to Groups 3 and 1.

This Athletics Standards Competition was also an admirable achievement in that it was run completely by the boys of this school. Congratulations must go to the Standards Committee, consisting of Asst. Secretary G. G. Conomos, Property Officer J. A. D. Haddon and Publicity Officer, P. B. Marich, who operated under the supervision of L. A. Balzer, Secretary.

The Committee wishes to express its sincere thanks to Mr. McAuslan, Art Master, Sgt. Wells, C. G. A. Pearce and most of all to the boys of the school without whose whole-hearted co-operation this competition would not have been possible.

RIFLE CLUB

The Club began its year with the election of officers; Duncan Leslie is Captain; Julian Peters Secretary; Kim Murchison and Ian Hottes are committeemen. With four of last season's colours back and four of the winning 2nd Team along with other good riflemen, we hope to be in a strong position to challenge our friends at King's.

Miniature shooting started early in the term and large numbers of keen newcomers are learning the rudiments of marksmanship. The Club is fortunate to have the help of Mr. J. Birch, Old Sydneian and rifleman, who has joined the school from the staff of Edgecliff Prep.

ROWING 1960-61

The season has throughout been dogged by ill-fortune. Inclement weather spoilt the entire period before the Christmas vacation, and both during and after the first Camp sickness, in a variety of small but irritating ways, upset the training schedule. This culminated with Brian Gorman contracting an infection near a bruised bone in the lower spine which took him from the Senior VIII (coaches Messrs. A. B. Gould and J. Gourlay) a week before the G.P.S. Regatta, and this gave little time for J. D. C. Willis (ex 1st IV, coach J. Burrell Esq.) to settle into his place. P. B. Brownrigg (ex. 5th IV, coach T. Heath, Esq.) did an excellent job in his new boat.

The first competitions brought us some places, and it was particularly pleasing to see how keenly the Tub Crews, (coaches Messrs. T. Kennedy, R. Smith, J. Knight and R. Schmidt) entered into their events.

SOME RESULTS

GLEBE REGATTA: VIII — 2nd in Maiden VIII's. 1st IV — 4th in Novice IV's.

SCOTS REGATTA: Junior VIII — 3rd. 1st and 2nd Tubs — 1st and 2nd.

BALMAIN REGATTA: VIII — 3rd in Junior VIII Heat. 2nd IV — 3rd. 3rd IV — 1st in Heat. 1st and 2nd Tubs — 1st and 2nd.

HABERFIELD REGATTA — 2nd IV — 3rd. 4th IV — 2nd in Heat and Final. 5th IV — 3rd in Heat.

LEICHHARDT REGATTA — 4th IV — 2nd in Heat and Final. 1st Tubs — 3rd in Heat.

METROPOLITAN REGATTA — VIII — 2nd in King's Cup Heat. 2nd IV — 2nd in Heat, 4th in Final. 1st Tubs — 3rd in Heat.

The Junior VIII (coach R. Caswell Esq.) never seemed to get going, despite a good spirit and hard work.

The 'Head-of-the-River' Regatta brought us little fame. In beautiful weather record crowds gathered to cheer on their favourites, and Grammar supporters were there a-plenty. Despite this encouragement our crews faded early in their races, the exception being the 4th

IV (coach W. Monks Esq.) which made a noble effort in the last yards and took a third place.

1st, 2nd and 3rd IVs finished at the rear of the field, the 2nd IV (coach G. Carlson Esq.) appearing particularly light by comparison with its competitors. The 1st IV showed nice style but rowed throughout at a very low rating, while the 3rd IV (coach O. Peters Esq.), again appeared lightweight by the side of competing crews.

In the major race we got away to a good start, and for the first half-mile were well up with the leaders. In the second half mile the rate slackened and the crew became very rough. For the last half-mile they dropped further back, finishing seventh.

We were very impressed with Shore's beautiful rhythm and strength. They were lovely to watch, and we congratulate them most heartily on an excellent win.

Disappointing though the rowing has been the season has been marked by the usual display of help and assistance from many supporters and we must record our sincere thanks to —

The Captain and Vice-Captains for their assistance in management; The motor-boat crews — R. Bourke, J. Willis, I. Meggit, F. Walker, W. Burnham; The Coaches; The Committee and members of the Parents and Friends Association; The Committee and Ladies of the Women's Association.

Dr. Matheson, Mr. Walker, and Mr. and Mrs. Hungerford, Mr. Caswell for all his many contributions, not forgetting the photographs and Mrs. Doris Cozens who continues her selfless work at the Camps. We are most grateful to the anonymous donor of the air-conditioning machine for the kitchen, which is especially a boon for the ladies who cook for us.

TENNIS

The number of boys wishing to play tennis has increased this year, so that the two courts at Weigall and the one at the School have been unable to cope with the numbers. Courts have had to be hired from the City Council at Prince Alfred Park. By limiting the number of games that may be played if any are waiting, it has been possible to ensure that all get a reasonable amount of play.

The School has again fielded two teams in the informal competition in which seven schools take part. Two teams, Open and Under 15, have been playing; it is hoped to have games for an Under 14 team during the middle term. This is good experience for many boys who would, in many cases, not represent their School elsewhere. It has also greatly raised the standard of tennis. We are especially indebted to Mr. Carbines, who not only has been looking after the younger team, but who has also been taking a group for special coaching on the Monday afternoons.

Twelve of our players spent a very enjoyable Sunday afternoon at Ascham. Some of the Ascham top players were far from easy to beat. So both from the point of view of tennis, and also as a social function, the afternoon was a great success. We have already had many applications for a repetition.

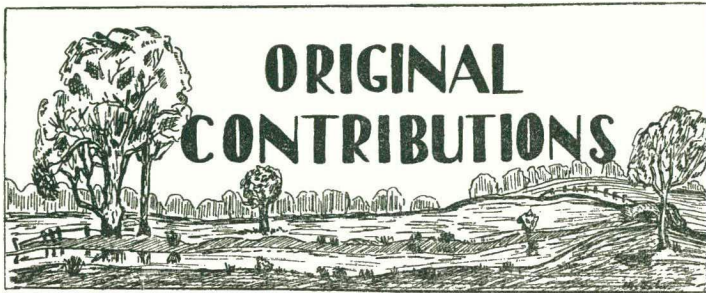

The postponement and final washing out of the annual inter-school fixture was a bitter disappointment to all. Members of the two teams had practised hard. We had a strong open team, and a good under 16, and were looking forward to a first class day's tennis; it was doubly disappointing since our senior team was probably the strongest all round that we have had for some time.

At the present the Open Doubles Championship is being played. We hope soon to start the Under 14 Singles. While on the subject of Championships, there is one result that was too late to be included last year: the Under 16 Singles Championship for 1960 was won by A. R. Rourke who beat J. A. Anderson 6-2, 1-6, 6-2.

The amount of organisation needed to run all this has been very great, and it has been fortunate that there have been two boys with the ability and enthusiasm to keep it going. A. M. Blake, the Captain, has been looking after teams each week and running the Doubles Championship. A. L. Carr the Secretary, has taken on the responsibility for all the practices. Without this help, it would have been impossible to keep the whole organisation running smoothly. I would like to thank them both very much for the work they are doing.

Again I would like to thank Mr. Carbines for his interest and for the great deal of help he has given. Also Mr. Harrison and Mr. Gabriel for keeping an eye on a couple of practices, and for providing information on certain features of the boys' play which was most valuable in correcting errors. And also thanks to the masters who, during the Cricket season, were good enough to mark the rolls of players at Weigall.

THE TRAGEDY OF SHARPEVILLE

A sunny day it was . . .
A day for creation, not to kill,
But a cloud came . . .
A cloud, not of nature, came over the hill,
It descended from the sky . . .
A descent which faded out the light,
And on the town it settled . . .
The town of hatred 'tween black and white.
The staccato rattle of gunfire,
Seventy-two for the funeral pyre.
Oh God . . . in the back!

A sunny day it was . . .
A day not for weeping for one's lost brother.
A day for love . . .
Yet there was no 'Love one another.'
And the cloud lifted . . .
It soared up high till it shone linen white,
And it hovered north . . .
And there it's moved many a heart that's contrite.
'No more apartheid will I stand',
Or 'Stay where you are, despised black man.'
Oh God . . . what we lack!

GROUP THIRTEEN

Though we cannot lay claim to great feats of scholarship in the last twelve months, we of Group 13 feel that we have once again proved our capacity for sheer hard work by doing more fatigues in this period than all the other groups combined.

No special events are to be reported in the fields of cricket and football, except for the good news that the charge of murder brought against our promising young forward, Dicky Bludsworth, after the sad incident in front of a goal post last month, has now been reduced to one of manslaughter. Good luck, Dicky!

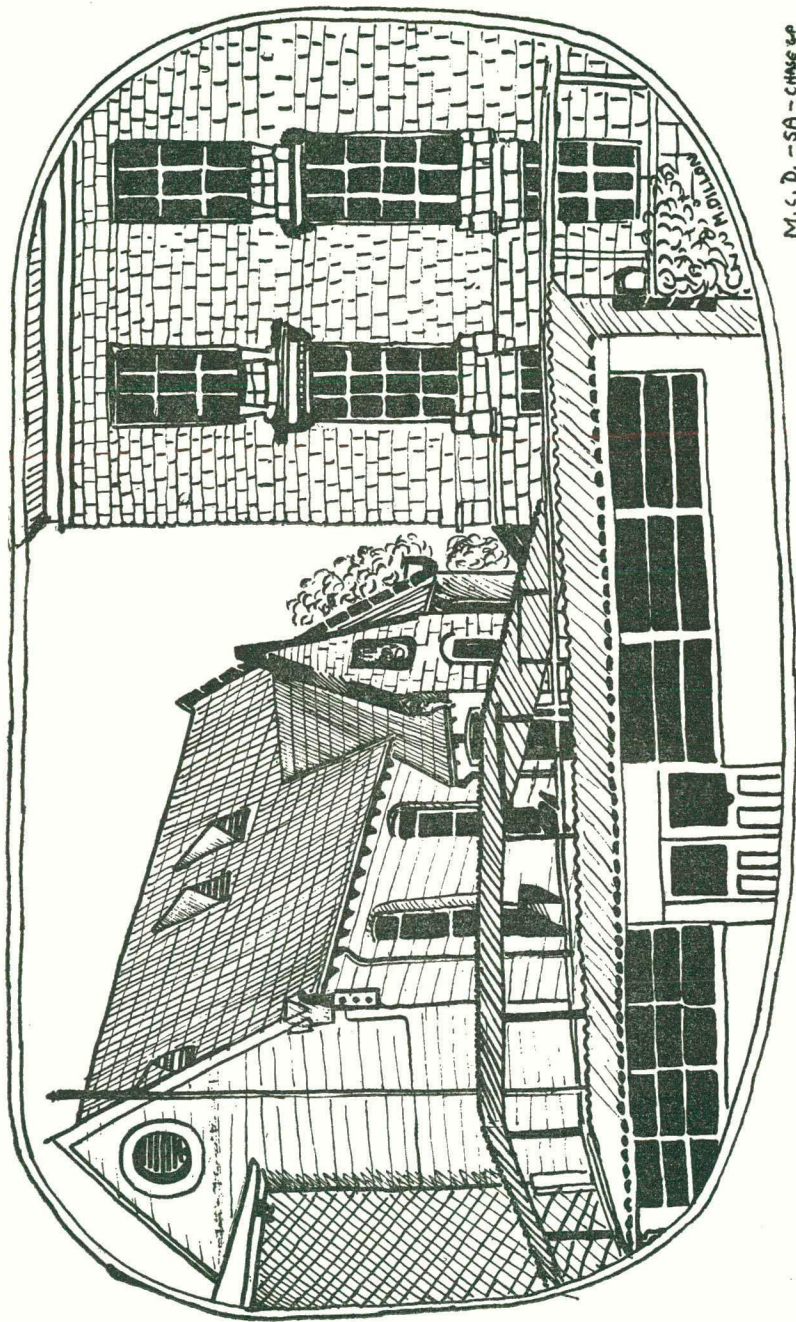

The biggest sporting event of the year for us, has been Donald McNurd's near miss in the Darlinghurst Under 21 Poker Championship. After a splendid beginning, Donald was within an ace of carrying off first prize, when that very ace, by great bad luck, fell out of his sleeve half-way through the last deal. True to the great traditions of sportsmanship at the old school, Donald refused to appeal against the Judge's decision more than twice.

Congratulations to our popular Sixth Former, Albert Burddroppe, who makes his seventh attempt at the Leaving Certificate this year. Albert is the only group member who has ever been invited to deliver a Sixth Form lecture. The subject of his talk was 'Sydney Grammar — Then and Now.'

Friends of last year's Group Captain, John Snaggle, who created such a stir when he premiered two-tone shoes and an Italian-cut suit at College Street, will be pleased to hear that he is settling down well at his new school. The meals are said to be excellent, and visits are allowed on Sunday afternoons on written application to the Governor.

'CHRISTOPHER BURKE'

Who did not like homework.
Each day he would say,
'I'll give this away
And find a much better lurk.'

STRIKE, STRIKE, STRIKE

(apologies to Tennyson)

Strike, strike, strike,
On thy cold grey mornings, O Busmen!
And I would that we could utter
The thoughts that arise in us.

O well for the workman,
That he shouts with anger at delay!
O well for the school lad,
That he sings on his way to play!

And the stately buses go off
To their haven out of the chill;
But O for the stranded thousands,
And the sounds of much ill-will!

Strike, strike, strike,
At the sight of thy clouds, O Busmen!
But the tender grace of extra pay
Will never be gained by you.

NIGHT ATTACK

It all happened so suddenly. I was raising the window in a vain search for some small breeze to ease the relentless heat which held me prisoner in its searing grasp when I first saw him.

He loomed out of the darkness, terrible with his evil intent, the light from my lamp near my bed outlining his every feature. I wiped the perspiration from my forehead with a clammy hand as I ducked his first attack. Then I stood upright, my eyes searching the blackness beyond the circle of light for the evilness which lay hidden in the night shrouded garden.

He had failed once but I knew his blood lust would spur him on to another attack, more vicious than the first. Desparately I scanned the room — surely there must be something with which I could defend myself. My quest seemed hopeless, the heaviest implement I could find in the room seemed to be the book I had been reading so peacefully only ten minutes before.

My hand closed over its coldness; better this than nothing I thought knowing that one of us would not live to see the sunrise.

His attack was so swift that it took me unawares. Wildly I swung my puny weapon, my breath coming in great gasps as I was forced back into the bedroom. He backed to make his final attack and knowing this was my last chance I seized the opening. I crashed the book down with all my force on his head. A great gladness filled me. I had killed him.

I do not like mosquitoes, do you?

LIFE

His droving days are over
And now through time's thick haze,
He sees the self he used to be
That self of former days.

He sees the Old Gulf Country
The endless grassy plains,
The nights in all their glory,
His campfire's magic flames.

He hears the bellowing cattle
The dingo's howl to the night,
He remembers times of hardship,
Those years he had to fight.

When bushfires swept across the plains
And the earth was parched and dry,
When whirlwinds danced across the sands,
And the red dust filled the sky.
When the nearest 'hole lay many a mile,
And he had to struggle or die.

When lightning flashed from thunder clouds
And the air was filled with rain,
When raging rivers burst their banks
And swept across the plain,
When every head of cattle drowned
And still the deluge came.

But in the years between them,
He saw the landscape green.
His cattle quietly grazing
Beside the flowing stream.

And now in Life's great twilight,
He knew his task was done,
He fought to open the outback,
He fought 'till Death had won.

THE WORST DISEASE

If the question 'What is the worst disease known to mankind' was put to the average person, he would answer typhoid, tuberculosis, cancer or some other disease which frequently features in commercials for some drug or other. However, these diseases, while admittedly terrible can be examined by scientists and tests made until eventually some anti-biotic or injection is found which combats the disease in question. On the other hand, the worst disease cannot be cured by drugs and ointments — in fact a cure for it cannot be summed up in a few simple words. This disease is WAR! Yes, war is a disease, just like the common cold, polio or alcoholism.

This disease has been known to mankind since his creation. Men have always fought those of another tribe or race and, unless a drastic change comes about, always will. However, in ancient times these wars were much more restricted than they are today. It was a case of one tribe fighting another or perhaps one country fighting its neighbour; the weapons were less destructive and battles were of only a few hours duration. Consequently the effect of these wars on the whole was not very terrible. But now the position is different. Battles are practically unknown — the war is a continuous business. The weapons are more technically advanced and so a war is usually a disaster to the whole world. This was so in the First and Second World Wars. However, in the event of a third World War it is nearly impossible to predict what will happen — or, for that matter, if there will be a world left.

There are, basically, two solutions to this problem — one of which is rather terrifying and the other which would require a great deal of research. The first solution would occur if a full-scale war broke out and the effect of modern weapons was really felt by one and all. Presuming there was still some of the earth and its people left after such a war, it can be seen that, if the destruction was as great as many prophesy, then future politicians would take much greater precautions to prevent a further World War. Perhaps the Second World War, which was a more disastrous war than had ever been known, had such an effect. In any case it is obvious that War is no longer treated as lightly as it was by Kaiser William II in 1914.

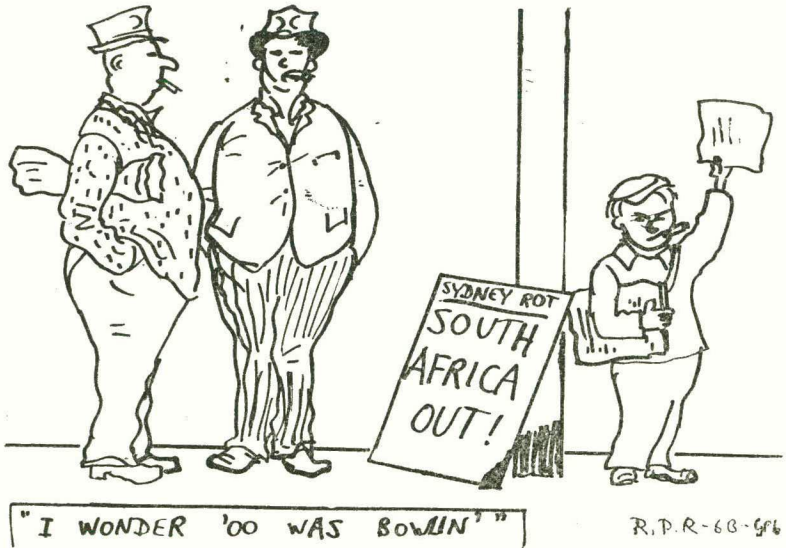

However, the second solution is obviously preferable and more civilized — and a lot safer! This possibility for curing the war disease is a very careful study of the causes of all wars known to history. Perhaps such a study would reveal many danger points. For assistance, it can be readily seen that the predominance of one country, or more particularly, one man, such as Napoleon, can bring disaster.

It is significant to note that a League of Nations or some similar arrangement is not the cure for this dreaded disease. For every League formed there will be an opposing one, consisting of some displeased faction. Eventually, two sides will develop and so, once again, there is the situation for war. It can be seen today that the world is split into two camps and so it is in a state of high tension.

Thus it is quite possible that there is no real cure for this terrible disease and so as long as man exists — which may not be very long — there will probably be war.

H.T.A. — 6A — GILES GROUP

During the summer vacation the dormitory classroom was partitioned thus permitting the enrolment of forty-five fifth grade boys into two classes. Other improvements include a wire fence around the western side of the oval to prevent cricket balls going over the bank and extension of the top playing area for training purposes to reduce the wear and tear on the main oval during the football season.

Mrs. J. Stanford left us at the end of the year to become a housewife again and Mr. I. Grantham has transferred to Edgecliff. Mr. G. McAuslan has also left us but continues to teach art at College Street. The Housemaster, Mr. S. Houghton-Williams, has become a day master in order that he may attend evening lectures at Sydney University. We welcome Miss E. Cavanaugh and two resident masters, Mr. J. Morrison, from the Department of Education, and Mr. M. Ives, B.Sc., an Old Sydneian. Miss J. Gilmore has extended her teaching of music to include all classes from Kindergarten to Grade VI.

Our grateful thanks are extended to Mrs. Chase for the provision of library books, to Mr. A. E. R. Fox for the use of an amplifier during speech night and to the Women's Association for their continued service to the school in general and for their donation of readers in particular. I should like to point out that the boys themselves have been responsible for improvements to the school as profits from the annual plays have been used to replace the duplicator (1957) erect awnings (1958), purchase sports supboards (1959), and provide, reference books to follow up English broadcasts (1960).

SCRIPTURE

A graded course of instruction is given throughout the school each week. The purpose is to develop the spiritual factor which, with mind and body, constitute the three essential dimensions of personality. The fundamental principles and teachings of the scriptures are taught through the presentation of selected passages. Older boys have memorised some shorter psalms during the year.

D.W.

DRAMATICS

The production last year was 'Aladdin'. Perhaps its chief defect was that too few of its cast of eighty-seven had speaking parts. Indeed the part of Aladdin constituted almost half the play. However the script writers, C. Healey, J. Heraghty and P. Turner wrote a play which had reasonable continuity and some occasional sparkling dialogue.

Every year the question seems to be raised whether to confine the singing to the good singers or to allow all those boys who want parts to participate, as, in the absence of speaking parts for the majority, this would be their only contribution. In 'Aladdin', much of the singing was not particularly well done, but eighty-seven boys sang at some stage.

As a stage production, it was probably our most colourful play. For this, credit must go to the ladies who designed and made the costumes, the boys who painted the scenery and to C. Maver from the Main School, who set up and operated a most effective system of stage lights.

The highlights of the play were probably the 'Persian Market' scene with all the splendour and poverty of an oriental bazaar, and the sword fight in which Aladdin killed the wicked magician.

1ST XI — Captain: G. HOOKHAM.

v. Knox. Lost 77 and 75 (Canvin 31, Hookham 22), Knox 67 and 87.

v. Newington. Won 116 (Hookham 58 and 6 for 12, Cox 2 for 7), Newington 23, at Killara.

v. C.B.C. Lost 65 and 38 (Hookham 24, Stroud 16, Bate 5 for 20, Maver 5 for 16), C.B.C. 80 and 44.

This team performed well as individuals but rather weakly as a team. Individual scores were good one match, poor the next and although one player averaged 26 there was little consistency. We were restricted in our choice of accurate bowlers which placed a greater burden on those who did bowl. Hookham, Bate, Maver and Cook performed most creditably in this department.

Field placing improved as the captain gained more experience, but it was undoubtedly our weak efforts here which cost us our two losses — by 2 runs and 21 runs.

Stroud, behind the stumps, improved immensely and, after a disastrous start, allowed 11 byes in 4 innings.

Mention must be made of Ryves whose accurate returns resulted in 8 run-outs, almost 2 in each innings.

G.G.

2ND XI: Captain: R. LONGLEY.

v. Knox. Lost outright. Knox 134 v. Grammar 34 and 68.

v. St. Leo's. Drawn. St. Leo's 8-68 v. Grammar 9-59.

v. C.B.C. Chatswood. Lost outright. C.B.C. Chatswood 9-131 (declared) v. Grammar 46 and 31.

Although the 2nd XI lost two of its three matches, the team showed keenness and an excellent spirit.

David Milverton proved himself a good opening batsman. Bowron P. in the final match performed very creditably as a bowler. Ian Hayden was always outstanding as a fieldsman.

J.M.

UNDER IIA: Captain: P. HARRISON.

Pleasing features were the keenness and the slight improvement towards the end. However, there were many weaknesses. Firstly the batting generally lacked aggression and most players persist in playing a cross bat with a result that many more balls are missed than should be, and when one is hit it must go on the leg side. The bowling, too, showed lack of purpose as most players do not know what type of bowler they want to be. Some good bowling was often spoilt by bad fielding although some players greatly improved their fielding towards the end. Lack of a regular wicket-keeper was a disadvantage.

More improvement will be hoped for in third term especially in the hope of having some practice wickets laid down so that the players can practise with some measure of confidence.

Thanks go to those parents and friends, especially Mr. Gorman, who gave their time to support and help the team.

M.I.

UNDER IOA: Captain: D. SULLIVAN

Defeats in all three games did nothing to discourage this very keen group. Several boys bowled well on occasions but not on the same occasion. Batting, in practice was very fair, but with the exception of D. Sullivan it was not repeated in games. Fielding by N. Mathiesen, A. Powell and P. Nevell was excellent but that of the rest of the team below standard.

S.A.H.-W.

SWIMMING

A school carnival was held at Roseville Baths during which ten records were set. The most outstanding performance was by T. de Franck, who won four events and helped the Gold House team win the relay. As the result of this carnival we were able to enter the first truly representative team in inter-school swimming and at the Knox Invitation meeting with six schools competing our team swam creditably to obtain six firsts, eight seconds, nine thirds and six fourths.

SOFTBALL

This game is played regularly on Saturday mornings by the boys who cannot gain selection in cricket teams. Eleven games were played against four other schools for four wins and seven losses.

CHES

Chess has proved to be a very popular way of filling in the lunch hour. At present the Chess Club contains over forty members including some enthusiasts from third and fourth classes. Later in the year we hope to have a tournament and to find the champion player of the School.

I.G.

MUSIC

Music classes are a much easier matter this year, as we have a special music room in MacCallum House and each class is able to have a music period every week.

We have in the music room, not only a piano, but a radiogram and the beginnings of an excellent record library.

The choir is at present learning a selection of Australian songs in conjunction with a selection of songs from other lands. It is hoped that they will present these soon in a 'musical evening' at MacCallum House.

I.G.

DRAMATIC CLUB

This year we have two Dramatic Clubs at Edgecliff — the Junior Club drawing its members from 3rd and 4th Classes, and the Senior Club from 5th and 6th.

Both groups hope to produce plays during the second Term.

Difficulty has been to find suitable plays which can be produced in the limited rehearsal period.

This has been overcome by writing our own. The Junior Section is busy on 'The Truants', a tale of life in a country school.

SPORTS NOTES

Results

During the first part of the season the Edgecliff teams have more than held their own.

Four teams have played regularly each Saturday morning as well as each boy in the school being engaged in practice on Wednesday Afternoons.

Our thanks go to those parents who have given so generously of their time to transport the teams, and provided encouragement to the coaches.

Of the 17 games played — 8 were won, 3 were drawn, 6 were lost.

Perhaps the most pleasant of these matches was played against Newington, Killara, on the Wednesday prior to the Easter Vacation.

The game began at 11 a.m. and adjourned for a picnic lunch at 12.30 p.m. after which play was resumed and the game closed at 2.45 p.m. What a pleasant way to begin holidays !!!

SOFTBALL

A Softball group was begun for those boys who were 'unable to make a cricket team'. Mr. Grantham hastily organized a team and some inter-school games.

These games were played on Saturday mornings and have now become part of the sporting life of the school.

Results

February 25th v. St. Ives — won.
March 18th v. St. Ives — lost.
March 25th v. Killara — lost.

At present the school eagerly awaits the commencement of the football season.

NEWS AND NOTES

Many Old Sydneians of a few decades ago will be sorry to read in the School Section of this number of the death of K. B. F. Lumsdaine who was a master at Grammar for many years. He will be remembered not only as an excellent teacher but for his enthusiastic help in all activities, especially the Cadets, Rifle Shooting and Debating. He retained his interest when he went to England and was a regular attendant at the Old Sydneians' London Dinner.

One of the men who did much for Grammar.

Dr. Ian MacKerras, an Old Sydneian of the 1910-1915 era who has been one of our leading Medical Scientists for many years took both his Science and Medical degrees at the same time in 1924 when most students find that one course is as much as they can manage. For many years he worked as entomologist with the C.S.I.R.O. in Canberra and in his spare time learnt to pilot his own plane so that he could collect specimens in outlandish parts of Australia. In World War II he was pathologist to the first Medical Unit and later was responsible for much of the research which led to the control of malaria and other tropical diseases in the New Guinea Campaign. Since the war he has been Director of the Queensland Medical Research Institute and has now been awarded a fellowship with the C.S.I.R.O. and returns to Canberra to undertake a thorough study of the March fly and all its doings.

R. B. Scotton who was at Grammar in the mid forties and has been abroad for a few years returned recently and has been appointed Economist to the Commercial Banking Company of Sydney.

A. C. Murchison who left school in 1933 has been elected Mayor of Woollahra making the third Old Sydneian who has filled this office in comparatively recent years.

B. W. Vitnell, another member of the mid nineteen forty vintage is now a Coal Geologist and recently called at Grammar while down from Singleton where he is working.

Malcolm Ives has been appointed to the staff of the Preparatory School at St. Ives.

Congratulations from Old Sydneians to Captain John Fletcher who was awarded the George Medal in the Birthday Honours, for gallantry in the 'Rip' tragedy last year. He was at Grammar from 1949 to 1951.

Also to R. D. Fitzgerald, O.B.E., who has been awarded the 1959 Grace Leven Prize for Poetry which is given under the will of the Australian poet William Baylebridge.

Lloyd Sommerlad has been elected President of the National Trust of Australia (N.S.W.). The Trust is devoted to the preservation of historic buildings and was incorporated by Act of Parliament last year. The historic College Street building, now the big school room, is one which it believes worthy of preservation.

Well-known journalist Ron Plater, who helps in the production of 'Black and Gold' has set up his own business in the public relations field.

Colin Moore who has been appointed Governor of Rotary, District No. 275, has been a member of the Rotary Club of Bondi Junction since 1947. He was President of that Club in 1955-56, and has held many other offices since the year of his induction.

M. C. Kafalias, M.D.S. has been awarded a Fulbright Scholarship, to become a teaching Associate in the School of Dentistry in the University of Indiana for two years beginning in September, 1961: he will also be taking a Master's Degree Course himself.

LONDON O.S.U. REUNION DINNER

Our annual function was the usual happy and nostalgic occasion, but, alas, there was very nearly a tragic aftermath. Our Hon. Secretary, Philip Cutner, F.R.C.S., was returning to his taxi from having accompanied our Chairman, former Headmaster Mr. H. N. P. Sloman to the Athaneum when a car struck Cutner. He was knocked unconscious, a shoulder and a leg were fractured, there were lesser injuries including to the hand, and he was rushed to Charing Cross Hospital, gravely injured. Two operations followed, and Phillip Cutner, after much suffering, is now happily on the way to recovery. He is still in hospital, weeks later. Fortunately Graham Edgar who had been at the dinner, and was waiting in the taxi, witnessed the accident, and was able to give the authorities a first-hand account.

Our reunion was at the Public Schools Club in Piccadilly. Those present were H. N. P. Sloman, (presiding as he has done for the last thirty or so years) one of the most loyal of our regulars, former Master K. F. Lumsdaine, Dr. Barr-Brown, G. Edgar, N. W. Buchanan, E. H. Deck, E. C. Holroyde, D. B. Reid, J. Wells, P. Wilson, Trevor Smith and Philip Cutner.

There was, as always the one toast, The School, proposed — as always — by Mr. Sloman who ranged over the past, present, and future with his characteristically undimmed wit and wisdom. There is no man more proud of Grammar than Sloman and surely Grammar can be proud of no man more than of Sloman who in his travels the world over has unceasingly praised the traditions and character of the School and its people.

He had much to say about the teachings of the humanities and science, of the iron curtain unnecessarily and regrettably building up between the two spheres. He wanted to see the teaching of Eastern languages, particularly Chinese, at Grammar. Sloman, himself a great classics Master, fluent in Russian and many other languages, admitted that the Chinese language was extremely difficult to learn, and that after two years of study, it had beaten him.

You will see that our total attendance at this reunion was the bare dozen. We hope that it will not be thought a sour note if disappointment with the support we are getting from Headquarters and from Old Boys generally is recorded. We had much to say about it, if in sorrow rather than in anger. We old lags here are rapidly getting older, even dying off, and being the last of the regulars, feel entitled to more backing from home and from the visiting firemen. So when you are on your pilgrimage, please find out the date of the London reunion before you leave — it is always in October — and let the London Hon. Secretary know.

We were most grateful to the Headmaster for his kind cable of good wishes and for his letter bringing us up to date in the School's affairs. It was the success story that old boys anywhere like to hear.

Thank you all at Grammar. Please let us see many more of you next time.

—TOO OLD SYDNEIAN

Stop Press — Old Sydneians will be pleased to learn that Philip Cutner continues to progress favourably following his unfortunate accident.

UNIVERSITY LETTER

Dear Sydneian,

This year has begun with cries of horror from some quarters about the laziness of students, their defence from others and still greater overcrowding. Numbers in some faculties are such that some enterprising college students have been seen carrying their own chair to lectures.

Grammar's contribution to this state of affairs numbers sixty-two freshers, which must surely be a record. Seven Old Sydneians have entered the Colleges: Stuart Cumming, Peter Nixey and Mick Galland are at Pauls, Linden Wing, Dick Fyfe and John Milverton at Andrews and David Burke at Wesley. There were some excellent examination results last year. Brian Dickey won the University Medal in History IV with First-Class Honours at graduation and a British Commonwealth Scholarship. Graeme Segal won the Garton Scholarship for German II and High Distinction in Pure Mathematics III, Applied Mathematics III and Physics III. Of the five awards and Scholarships in first, second and third year Agriculture, three were won by Old Sydneians, the Belmore Scholarship for the greatest proficiency in second year by A. H. D. Brown, the Waterhouse Prize for Plant Pathology by W. A. Layton, and the Cran Prize for Agronomy by R. G. Rees. Morton Rolfe gained the George and Matilda Harris Scholarship No. IIB for Law III, Malcolm Ives the G. S. Caird Scholarship for Geography III and John Lee the Percy Josphe Marks Scholarship No. I for Elementary Hebrew. David Watson topped Veterinary Science I and John Edwards Theory of Machines in Engineering II. High Distinctions and Distinctions were gained by Jim Windeyer, Anthony Graham, John Shenstone, Stuart Cumming, Jorgen Nielson, Humphrey Gastineau Hills and Howie Doran whose brother Tony was First in Science I at the University of New England.

In sport we are not as impressive by weight of numbers but Philip Harry is Captain of the 1st XV of which Warwick Caisley and Bob Perrett are also members. Malcolm Ives plays in the 1st XI in which Bob Grant also played a match. Ted Trainer represents the University in gymnastics.

A most successful function was the University Dinner, organized by the O.S.U. for students of the University of Sydney and the University of New South Wales which was held in the Union on Friday 14th April. The President and Committee are to be congratulated on the success of this dinner, which it is hoped will become an annual event.

Yours sincerely,
UNDERGRAD.

THE SCHOOL'S PRINTED RECORDS

WILL members of old Grammar families please send the Librarian any early printed papers they may find in their homes rather than burn them? We wish to receive any records, especially School orders and Prize Lists from the period 1857-1914: also Examiners Reports, Prospectuses and copies of the Sydneian.

ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTIONS

MEMBERS are reminded that Annual Subscriptions are now due. Accounts have been sent to all members at the last known address.

If you have not yet made your payment, please do so at your earliest possible convenience.

ENGAGEMENTS, MARRIAGES & BIRTHS

*We should like to print a full and accurate list of Engagements, Marriages and Births and the Sydneian Committee relies on Old Sydneians to notify the Assistant Secretary, 31.9831 whenever they hear of an event which should be recorded in this section.
If full details are not known the Committee will make further enquiries.*

OBITUARY

Sir Hugh Raymond Poate

The death of Sir Hugh Poate on January 27th, 1961 at the age of 77 saw the passing of one of the most famous Old Sydneians.

He was at Grammar from 1896 to 1901 and graduated in Medicine at the University of Sydney in 1906. After gaining his higher degree in Surgery in England he returned to Australia and joined the Honorary Staff at Royal Prince Alfred Hospital as a surgeon and retained the association for the remainder of his life. He left Australia with the Army Medical Corps in December 1914 and served on Gallipoli and in France as a leading surgeon. He was Knighted in 1952 and became a world authority in certain types of Surgery. During World War II he was a Group Captain and head of the Medical Service of the R.A.A.F. For many years he took a leading interest in the work of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem and held the position of Chancellor of the Order in Australia until his death.

Ronald Arthur J. Thompson

Ron Thompson who died during December 1960 in his fifty-sixth year received his education at Grammar from 1916 to 1921. In his last year at School he won the Senior Knox Prize also the Wigram Allen Prizes for both Mathematics and Science. In the Leaving Certificate 1921 he obtained Honours in Mathematics and Physics and was awarded an Exhibition in Engineering at the University of Sydney. His name also appears on another Honour Board in the big Schoolroom showing that he was awarded the Morehead Scholarship in 1922. Following a brilliant course at the University he entered the Public Service with the Main Roads Board and later became Deputy Director of Works for New South Wales. He served as Lt. Colonel in the Engineers during World War II and retained his interest as O.C. of the Militia Engineers. For a number of years he had been an active worker for Legacy and at the time of his death was Vice-Chairman of the Committee of Convocation of the University of Sydney.

Barclay Wallace Farquhar

Wallace Farquhar who attended Grammar from 1888 to 1891 died on the 23rd January 1961 in his 88th year was one of the most versatile and outstanding sporting personalities of his day. He obtained both the batting and bowling honours for the 1st XI in 1891, he was the Champion All Schools Athlete for 100 and 200 yards, he played football in the 1st XV as a wing three quarter and represented the school at tennis. On leaving school he entered the service of the Commercial Banking Co. of Sydney and remained in the employ of this Company until his retirement. He represented New South Wales at Cricket for several years shortly after leaving school.

SPECIAL NOTICE

OLD SYDNEIANS' UNION

DRIVE FOR NEW MEMBERS

The Union is anxious to extend its assistance to the School and at the same time continue to provide the maximum service to Old Boys.

It is therefore imperative that the Union obtain a substantial increase in membership.

Of the thousands of Old Boys, only some 2900 are members of the Union, although many non-members have retained an interest in the School and only need your personal persuasion to join the Union.

You can help

by inducing some Old Sydneian who is not a member to complete the form on the back of this page and send it to the Union Office with the appropriate subscription as shown on the form. Additional forms are available at the Union Office.
